H.K. FOOTBALL CLUB DINNER

Successful Rugby Season.

SOCCER TEAMS NOT VERY IMPRESSIVE.

New Bowling Green.

A large number of members and their guests attended the annual dinner of the Hong Kong Football Club, which was held in the Gloucester Building, last evening.

The President Mr. R. M. Dyer, G.B.E., was indisposed and was unable to be present at the dinner. Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall, a Vice-President, was also unable to be present.

After the dinner, Mr. J. Ormiston, Vice-President of the Association, toasted the guests, and in the course of a speech, said:

"The Hong Kong Football Club was founded in 1886, the chief organizers being Mr. J. H. Stewart Lockhart and Dr. Watson Pike. It is a far cry from 1886 and I do not propose to follow the Club's history from that date. Suffice it brought to bear on the members of are proud of the Club's history and their chief aim is to carry on untarnished, its tradition of vigorous and healthy sportsmanship."

"Turning now to the past season I will endeavour to survey briefly the Club's various activities."

"The Soccer section added two eleven throughout the season. The first eleven, captained by Mr. S. Strange, have to date played 16 League games, of which 7 have been won; one drawn; and 8 lost."

"These results are not perhaps impressive, but the failure to accomplish a more successful record is readily accounted for by the difficulties encountered in arranging a regular series of practice games and matches."

"RED" SUPPRESSION IN SOUTH CHINA.

Canton, Yesterday.

Concrete plans for the suppression of the Communists in Kiangsi and Fukien have been formed following a conference between General Chen, Chi-tong, Commander-in-Chief of the First Group Army, and General Tsai Ting-kai, Commander of the 10th Route Army.

It is expected that the Reds will be suppressed within a short time in accordance with the plan. Central Press.

WIDE RANGE OF ISSUES FOR DISCUSSION

An Historic Cruise On Potomac River.

MR. MACDONALD'S REACTION TO GOLD EMBARGO.

Denies Disappointment.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

New York, Yesterday.

A cruise which may become as historic as Sir Austen Chamberlain's cruise on Lake Maggiore during which the Locarno Pact was planned, will take place to-morrow, when it is proposed that President and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Mr. Ramsay MacDonald and Miss Isabel MacDonald and a small party will cruise all day down the Potomac River.

No Presidential advisers will accompany the President.

In a written statement made while in quarantine, yesterday, Mr. MacDonald said that he hoped to have with the President, a frank exchange of views over a wide range of issues, economic and political. Definite arrangements were not to be anticipated in the short space of time at their disposal, but a meeting was necessary to pave the way for concerted action.

He believed that President Roosevelt and he were in harmony of spirit regarding all world causes, and agreed that the most pressing of them, at present, was the removal of the economic distress.

Mr. MacDonald emphatically denied that he was disappointed in President Roosevelt's action regarding the gold standard. The action, he asserted, only illustrated the distress of the world, which President Roosevelt and he were trying to face.

He hoped that they would do so successfully.

President's Welcome

GREETES BRITISH PREMIER AT WHITE HOUSE DOOR.

Washington, Yesterday.

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald accompanied by his daughter, Miss Isabel MacDonald and the British financial and economic experts, arrived here yesterday evening after spending the train journey in studying the most recent developments in the United States.

They were welcomed at the station by Mr. William Cordell Hull, Secretary of State, and motored to the White House where President Roosevelt broke a long-established precedent by going to the front door and greeting them under the portico, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and their married daughter, Mrs. Dall.

Mr. MacDonald's address which was broadcast from the s.s. Berengaria created a very favourable impression. — Reuter.

MACON'S MAIDEN FLIGHT

U.S. Persists With Airships.

SISTER-SHIP TO AKRON.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Akron, Ohio, yesterday.

In spite of the consensus of opinion that the U.S.S. Akron catastrophe has dealt a death blow to big airships, the United States dirigible, "Macon", sister-ship to the ill-fated "Akron", has taken to the air. She returned here to-day after successfully completing her 13-hour maiden flight.

The U.S.S. Macon was built by the Goodyear Zeppelin Company at Akron at a cost of $85,000,000. Engined with eight motors, the "Macon" embodies many improvements made since the launching of the "Akron", and is fitted with apparatus for launching and anchoring fighting planes.

With a length of 785 feet, the "Macon" weighs 221,000 lbs. when empty, and has a cubic capacity of 6,500,000 cubic feet.

BIG OPIUM HAUL IN MARSEILLES

Half Ton Of Dope Found By Police.

SMUGGLED IN LINER'S PRISON CELLS

Marseilles, Yesterday.

Another blow has been directed at one of the powerful Continental drug smuggling rings, with the seizure here, on board the Messageries Maritimes liner, "Theophile Gauthier," of nearly half a ton of illicit refined opium.

The discovery was made by the Police who instituted a thorough search of the vessel immediately after her arrival from Istanbul. The drug, which was found in the prison cells on the after deck, was confiscated, and enquiries among the crew of the ship are now proceeding. The s.s. Theophile Gauthier is a steel twin-screw vessel of 8,194 tons engaged on the Marseilles-Near East run. She was built in 1926. — Reuter.

French Finance Minister's Statement.

URGE AN EARLY SESSION OF WORLD CONFERENCE.

Paris, Yesterday.

"There is no question of our abandoning the gold standard," declared M. Paul Bonnet, French Minister of Finance, in a statement issued to-day.

The position of France, he stated, was most clear, and it was her sincere hope that all countries would revert as quickly as possible to the gold standard.

The Cabinet, he said, had decided to issue a Government request for the World Economic Conference to be summoned as quickly as possible in view of the latest development in the economic crisis.

M. Herriot, who is on his way to Washington to have a preliminary discussion with President Roosevelt, has been instructed to urge for an early session for the Conference. M. Herriot arrives in New York to-morrow on the s.s. Ile de France. — Reuter.

Germany's Debt To America.

PROPOSED REPAYMENT IN PAPER DOLLARS.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Berlin, Yesterday.

The view that Germany will be allowed to repay in paper dollars, the debts contracted in gold dollars, thus lightening the debt burden, is expressed in an official communique which states that Germany is entitled to ignore the gold clauses in the debt agreements.

The communique claims that it would not be equitable if America should reduce the gold value of her own obligations by legislation at the same time maintaining the gold value of her demands.

Lindbergh said the flight would be made purely as a routine matter in the capacity of his position as technical adviser.

Nanking, Yesterday.

The Constitution Drafting Committee meeting this afternoon under the Chairmanship of Sun Fo, president of the Executive Yuan, discussed the question of reorganization of the provincial governments.

It is understood that the members of the Committee generally favoured the restoration of governorship instead of the present committee system.

The draft discussed to-day envisages the institution of the Provincial People's Congress which shall elect the Provincial Governor as well as the Provincial Assembly. — Reuter.

MASONIC LODGES ABOLISHED

Drastic Agreement In Germany.

TO BE REORGANISED AS A NEW ORDER.

(Reuter's Special Service.)

Hanover, Yesterday.

All Masonic Lodges in Germany are to be dissolved and re-organised on a purely Christian basis.

This decision is embodied in a statement issued to-day after a meeting between Masonic and Government representatives, to the effect that, "The Grand Lodges have decided to take this step in deference to the new conditions."

It sweeps away all the Masonic traditions of almost 200 years' standing.

The word "Freemason" and also the ritual Lodges based on the Old Testament will from now on disappear, and Lodges will be reorganised under the name, "National Christian Order of Frederick the Great."

Jews are no longer admitted to the Order.

JAPANESE TO WITHDRAW TO GREAT WALL

Neutral Zone Now Established.

TROOPS ORDERED TO HALT OPERATIONS.

Tokyo War Office Assurance.

Tokyo, Yesterday.

Having completed the task of terminating the Chinese pressure on the Jehol border and pushing the Chinese beyond artillery range of the Great Wall, the War Office to-day announced that the Japanese troops operating to the South of the Wall since April 10 have been ordered to cease operations and halt the pursuit.

A War Office spokesman intimated that the Japanese will withdraw to the Great Wall as soon as they are satisfied that the Chinese do not intend to renew their attacks, but will bomb from the air any Chinese troops attempting to re-enter the neutral zone formed by the Japanese withdrawal. — Reuter.

HEAVY FIGHTING AT KUPEIKOW

Chinese Offensive Repulsed.

Tokyo, Later.

Despite the Japanese War Office's optimism that the campaign south of the Great Wall has been completed, latest press dispatches report heavy fighting at Kupeikow, where the Japanese claim to have repulsed the Chinese offensive.

Five Chinese Divisions are reported to have participated in the attack.

Leaflets Dropped From Planes.

EXTRAORDINARY METHODS OF JAPANESE PROPAGANDA.

Peking, Yesterday.

Some of the leaflets which are being dropped by the millions on villages and towns in North China by the Japanese aeroplanes have been received in Peking and their translations in an official Communiqué show the extraordinary methods that Japanese propagandists are taking.

"Asia for the Asiatics: Yellow races Wake up! Manchukuo is Paradise: Jehol is like a bud before coming into full blossom: the Imperial Japanese Army comes from Heaven, loving Peace, maintaining justice and suppressing bandits in co-operation with Manchukuo: the Japanese Army is the strongest in the world." These are the text of the leaflets that have been dropped.

It is safe to say that in view of the bombings which have accompanied these leaflets and which killed and mangled scores of civilians the general population doubts the descent from Heaven.

Most people, however, who received these leaflets are unable to read them and the educated public appear to be more amused than impressed. — Reuter.

"FREE WOMEN AND RUINED MEN"

Epigrams From Famous
French Writer.

OXFORD'S TWO CLASSES

London. M. Paul Morand, the distinguished French author, was destined for a career at sea. But when he presented himself for examination in geometry at the Naval Academy and described a circle as "a round," these hopes were lost.

M. Morand, who lectured on "My Beginnings" before the French Institute in London, is, besides a great writer, an artist at epigrams. These are a few of his "bona mota":

"This is the age of free women and ruined men."

"When I was at Oxford it was divided into two classes. Drinkers, huntmen and debaters on the one hand and aesthetes on the other. The aesthetes were hunters too. They hunted illusions. Now there are women at Oxford and the shopkeepers do not give credit."

"A film is only by chance a work of art. Primarily it is a commercial document. It must be sold before it is made."

In the early days of the World War M. Morand was an attaché at the French Embassy in London. A pair of glowing orange curtains at his window at the embassy earned for him, from the French Ambassador, M. Paul Cambon, the title of the "Cubist Attaché."—Reuter.

Figures were also issued showing that only 7 per cent. of all the households in Berlin employ servants.—Reuter.

Millinery Styles Show Come-Back Old Styles Revived For Spring Beginning Of Hats

IN the matter of millinery women at present in the forties are experiencing the sensation of entering upon the phase of second childhood somewhat before the appointed time. For one by one we are being called upon to assume, in these our later days, hats of a type which we wore, rather more jauntily, in the innocence of our youth.

Consider the beret for instance, which as grown-ups we have borne—or borne with—for the past two or three years. Somewhere near the beginning of this century school-girls rejoiced in this type of cap for holiday wear and knew it as a "berry" cap, but with no thought of any Basque significance.

In all simplicity they were accepted as berry caps because in their unvarying scarlet rotundity they seemed to resemble the familiar hips and haws and buxom berries of the hedgerow.

Sometimes, too, they were called aquilas or squib-caps, because of the small cylinder of scarlet felt which protruded from the crown and looked exactly like a red firework. This "squib," one remembers, afforded a good twinkling hold for brothers and other rough playmates.

First the beret and now the fez! In the late nineties all the tiny boys and most of the smallish girls wore a fez. One cannot easily imagine anything less becoming than this inverted flower-pot style, which again was adorned with a squib from which sprouted a black silk tassel. It is queer to recollect English lanes and beaches dotted with young English children incongruously topped by headgear usually associated with Eastern potentates. It would be queerer still to Bright Dress For Princess Thoughts About Riviera Beguile Parisians.

WITH it so cold here, it is some consolation to concentrate on Riviera clothes.

The dress which the Princess de Chimay has chosen from Mme. Schiaparelli is a regular little blaze of glory. The material has a faint stripe running through it, alternate blue and pink on a speckled blue and grey ground.

The blouse is of open worked linen, in porcelain blue, with scarf ends that tie in a bow at the throat.

The Princess also chose a woollen dress in a light brown with the hand knitted scarf that forms a waistcoat in yellow, lined with brown.

Another ensemble, for more formal wear, consists of a coat of darkest hyacinth blue wool, with the indication of a waist placed rather high.

The matching dress is in jersell "Perle"—that slinky, very supple and delightful-to-feel material.

and oneself, as forty odd, flaunting a similar fez in the city.

Modified Style.

Merchifully, however, these "come back" styles are greatly modified, and the much heralded 1933 version of the fez has apparently suffered so much pinching and bashing that all hope of being able to use a specimen surviving from childhood's days is rapidly fading.

What next? Is it possible that the jelly-bag will enjoy a "come-back"? This type of head gear was copied from the cap worn by Breton sailor lads. As worn by little English girls in 1894, it was the most foolish looking affair imaginable—a long knitted bag finished off with a fat pom-pom. With it was worn a "cloud" or muffer which might have been made from two jelly-bags, for it was a long knitted tube with a pom-pom at either end. With a jelly-bag on the head, a cloud about the throat, and all pom-poms in evidence, a small person must have presented the appearance of a mop-and-dishcloth stall at one of the six-penny bazaars, and one can but hope that fashion will consent to skip the jelly-bag and revert to those earlier styles which adorned our extreme infancy.

Restoring 'Flu's Ravages

Water And Fresh Air Essential.

FEW things are more depressing than a glimpse in the glass after a sharp attack of 'flu. The hair shows lank and weary, the skin lifeless, and the eyes gaze back with a jaundiced look that is half mental and half physical.

Five minutes' intensive study of this grim sight is sufficient to persuade even the young that they are making tracks for the sore and yellow.

This, of course, is one of those phases that, happily, pass. Nature asserts herself. But nature is inclined to be lazy. She takes her time, and is all the better for a helping hand.

The first step in improving the looks after an illness is to tone up the system and improve the general health. A good tonic is advisable.

Spring Accessories

PASTE and chromium clips for hats and dresses and coat lapels are likely to remain popular. The latest are the metal clips with an initial in the centre.

Another novel hat decoration is in the form of a metal pineapple cone about the size of a plum.

There are still a few double-headed pins with chromium knobs or bars at the ends.

Buy a small length of veiling, and tie it around your small hat so that it hits you just above the eye and won't obstruct your view and slant it down on the left side so that it covers your hair.

Eye Treatment Is Harmful

ANY artificial means of adding a sparkle to the eyes is bound to last only a short time, and may be actually injurious. Furthermore, no woman under 75 should require it. Enthusiasm, health, physical and mental, are the real beautifiers that bring sparkle to the eyes. Cultivate these and you will not need to spend money on special eye treatment.

If you have envied the dewy look in Frances Dee's eyes, here is the secret. A bit of muscle oil touched to the very edge of the upper lid catches the lights and gives the eyes a glistening effect. Miss Dee uses the oil over eye-shadow with superb results.

Wynne Gibson has a quick hand-bleaching trick, while Miss Dee revealed the secret of her fresh and sparkling eyes.

Because she is athletic, Wynne Gibson has worked out a formula that makes her arms and hands white and lovely even after a day of golf and tennis. She turns her hands into lily petals by the simple method of tying a cord snugly about the upper arm to retard the circulation for ten or fifteen minutes. Sommers and Hassan Outstanding.

The Radio Sports Club, winners of the Mamak Hockey Tournament, upheld their prestige yesterday, when they defeated the Rest of the League by 2 goals to 1 after being led at the interval by the only goal.

Mohinder Singh, the Radio's left half, was ordered to leave the field by Referee Keohane early in the second half. He threw his stick at the legs of Souza, the Rest's centre forward, who had broken through and was about to score.

This is the third player to be ordered to leave the field during this season's hockey—the number is without precedent in the annals of the game in the Colony.

The non-appearance of Steers (Medway) forced the Rest to play for the first quarter of an hour with only ten men, but they had scored when A. E. P. Guest (St. Andrew's) completed the side.

In any game one is able to pick out at least one outstanding player, but in yesterday's game two played brilliantly, Sommers of the Rest and M. B. Hassan of the winners. Both were excellent.

Fine Spilling.

Hassan was fast and fed his forwards with beautifully placed passes. His spilling was a source of continual annoyance to the Rest's forwards, who time and again failed owing to this player's last minute clearances. Sommers surpassed all his former exhibitions by a magnificent all-round display. Parduman Singh at right back for the Radio was also outstanding, but to a less marked degree. His stickwork was brilliant.

Both the Radio wings were good and put in some very useful centres, while Baldwin also shone on the left wing for the Rest.

Stannard, of the Parthian who came into the team instead of Buckland, was good in defence and effected several last minute clearances in his goalmouth.

R. H. Wong in goal for the Rest was the better of the two custodians. He put in some brilliant work in the opening stages, when he often saved at full length.

Of the forwards, Souza and McCrae of the Rest, and Awtar Singh, G. Singh and S. Singh of the Radio were good. Awtar Singh's winning goal was a brilliant example of individualism and clever stickwork.

Barnett opened the scoring following a clearance by Sommers. Souza deflected the ball past Barnett to the latter to score with a rising shot from just inside the circle.

The bully saw the Radio carry all before them, but a good save by Wong in goal repelled them.

At this period of the game, A. E. P. Guest, came into the Rest side to fill the vacancy at right back caused by the non-appearance of Steers.

Last Minute Win.

Just before half time McCrae went very near to putting the Rest two up when he hit the left upright.

The second half opened with the Radio forwards crowding the Rest goal, but they were felled by the timely clearances of Stannard on two occasions.

During a raid on the Radio goal Souza took the ball past Parduman Singh, who had dropped his stick, but he was stopped by Mohinder Singh, who threw his stick at the University player. Mr. Keohane immediately ordered the Radio player off the field.

Playing with only ten men the Radio played brilliant hockey to equalise during a melee. Awtar Singh netting when he suddenly gvered in from the right to take Guest unaware in the Rest's goalmouth.

Just before time the Radio went ahead when Awtar Singh carried all before him in a brilliant solo effort, going through the defence in whirlwind fashion to score from near in. Radio:—Man Singh, Parduman Singh and J. B. Grewel; Jagoo Singh, M. B. Hassan and Mohinder Singh.

BORDERERS BEAT POLICE

FOUR POINTS MAY BE INVOLVED

NAVY SCORE NINE TIMES

THE CLUB SUSTAINED A SMASHING DEFEAT BY 7 GOALS TO 1 AT THE HANDS OF THE CHINESE ATHLETIC CLUB AT THE VALLEY YESTERDAY. THE CHINESE CLUB ARE STAGING A GREAT COME BACK IN THE LEAGUE HAVING BEATEN ST. JOSEPH'S LAST WEEK. THE LINCOLNS PLAYED A GREAT GAME TO FORCE THE NAVY TO A DRAW, HOCQUARD NETTING A WONDERFUL GOAL IN THE LAST MINUTE OF THE GAME TO EQUALISE, WHILE BOTH THE ARTILLERY AND THE BORDERERS HAD NO DIFFICULTY IN WINNING THEIR FIXTURES AGAINST KOWLOON AND THE POLICE.

In the Second Division the Navy scored an overwhelming victory over Kowloon by 9 to 1.

Mak Sui-hon and Au Kim-fong, of the Athletic played brilliantly to riddle the Club defence, both players scoring twice. Rawson, however, headed the list of goal scorers when he netted on four occasions against Kowloon. Murrell scored three times in the same game.

FIRST DIVISION

Borderers Secure Four Points.

JONES THE OPPORTUNIST.

The Borderers defeated the Police by 4 goals to 1 at Caroline Hill yesterday after having enjoyed more than their share of the game.

It is understood on good authority that as yesterday's match was the first encounter between these two teams this season, it was decided by both teams that in view of the limited time before the conclusion of the League programme the game should count as a double fixture, so that by their win the Borderers annexed four points, subject to the assent of the Committee.

Jones, who scored all four goals for the Borderers, played a great game, being especially quick to take advantage of anything that came his way. The Police forwards were held well in check by Podmore and his halves with the result that the Borderers' backs and goalkeeper had little or nothing to do.

Wynne and Brittain, the Police backs, despite one or two errors, played very sound football, but the halves were over-run, and in consequence passes that were intended for their forwards went astray. Blackburn and Johnston were seriously at fault in their positioning, leaving Moss to do all the centre-work on his own, which he did to the best of his ability. With the aid of the Pile brothers he tried hard throughout to reduce the Borderers' lead.

The Borderers secured the lead early in the game, when after an unsuccessful attempt on their goal by Blackburn, Jones took possession of a pass from L. Harris and sent in a beautifully placed shot which hit Minty well between C. Pile's central a nice ball at the other end, but none of the Police forwards could reach it and from the clearance L. Harris took the ball along the wing and lobbed it into the centre.

Jones and Minty rushed for possession and the former just got there before the goalkeeper to give the Borderers their second point. Over-eagerness on the part of the Borderers forwards lost several opportunities but after continued pressure on the Police goal Jones eventually completed his "hat-trick," netting with a ground shot when Minty was unsighted.

After the interval, the Borderers maintained the offensive, and Jones, going through on his own, scored the fourth point. The Police made several break-aways, and it was from one of these raids that Moss eventually reduced the lead, scoring with a first-timer after the ball had been mis-kicked by one of the opposing backs.

Borderers:—Smith, Mullane, Rees, Wallace, Podmore, Underwood, L. Harris, H. Harris, Fort, Jones and Duncan. Police:—Minty, Wynne, Brittain, Wheeler, Channing, Harris, T. Pile, Blackburn, Moss, Johnston and C. Pile.

Rest:—H. H. Wong (St. Andrew's), Naidu (K.I.T.C.), Stannard (Parthian), Sommers (German Club) and Allen (Police), Colledge (R.A.M.C.), McCrae (Parthian), Souza (University), Barnett (Phoenix) and R. Baldwin (Medway). Referee:—Mr. Keohane (Police).

Athletic Bewilder The Club.

FAST SUPERIORITY.

The Club sustained a very heavy defeat at the hands of a strong Chinese Athletic team yesterday on their own ground, losing by 7 goals to 1.

The Club gave one of their worst displays of the season, playing listlessly throughout, they were outclassed in all departments by the speedy Chinese. The team-work of the Athletic was magnificent, their quick, short ground passing leaving the Club defence spreadeagled. The lassitude of the Club players helped the Chinese considerably, and in the closing stages the Chinese had gained such a hold on the game that they practically did as they pleased.

The Club were without Rodger, and Farrow, who deputised, was unsafe, with the result that the Chinese shot at every opportunity. Panchoon came in at half, Skinner being in the centre, and it was in this department that the Club were weakest. Frequent mis-kicking and poor passing gave the forwards little chance. Strange and Williams were the best of the forwards, S. Strange excelled at full-back.

The Athletic possessed no weak links, their defence being rarely troubled. The half backs were splendid, Lai Kwok-chui opening up the game well. Tang Kwong-sum was given plenty of scope on the wing, and he made good use of the ball, while Mak Sui-hon provided the brains of the attack.

No Kau-ming opened the scoring with a good shot. Three minutes later S. Strange stepped aside to let Farrow clear, but the latter kicked wildly against Au Kim-fung and the ball rebounded into the net. The Club defenders resorted to offside tactics with success, but after 25 minutes Mak Sui-hon registered the Athletic's third point.

At the commencement of the second half the Athletic swept down the field and S. Strange handled, saving a certain score. From the penalty kick, Lai Kwok-chui scored with a good shot. A few minutes later Ho Chai-yin, was through when S. Strange cleared well only for Chung Man-ming to score the fifth with a hard drive.

Three free kicks in rapid succession just outside the penalty area were well cleared by the Athletic defenders and Li Kwok-ki made a good save from Williams. From another free kick, however, Williams gained possession and netted with a hard drive. The Club at this period were playing much better but the Athletic raced away again and Au Kim-fung made the score 6-1. Five minutes later Mak Sui-hon dribbled from the half-way line to score the seventh goal.

Club:—Farrow, Martin, S. Strange, Panchoon, Skinner, Duncan, Dominy, Watson, Williams, E. Strange and Hynds. Athletic:—Li Kwok-ki, Lueng Yuk-tong, Le Ho-cheong, Ho Chai-yin, Lai Kwok-chui, Ip Pang-fai, Tang Kwong-sum, Au Kim-fung, Ho Kau-ming, Mak Sui-hon and Cheong Man-ming.

Before calling upon Mrs. Greig, wife of the Vice President, to present the souvenirs to "A" team, the winners of the game, the Chairman said he very much regretted the necessity of entering only one team this year in the First Division of the Lawn Bowls' League owing to the paucity of playing members. Mr. R. E. Greig said that the bowling greens this year were in a very good condition owing to the strenuous efforts made by Mr. John Russell, the Club Secretary.

CRICKET'S FAREWELL AT THE K.C.C.

Teddy Fincher, Pearce And Dunkley Shine.

OWEN-HUGHES HAS RUNNER.

The formidable O. & S. XI, under the captaincy of Capt. Burnett, were fortunate to force a draw with a weak Kowloon Cricket Club eleven at the K.C.C. yesterday.

At the close of play the visitors, with one wicket in hand required 57 runs for victory. The game was concluded at 6.30 p.m.

The features of the match were the batting of E. C. Fincher, who scored 73 out of 131, the spin bowling of T. A. Pearce, who took 3 wickets for 27 runs in 11 overs, and the wicket-keeping of G. S. Dunkley, who stumped two batsmen and gave away only six byes in a total of 188.

The Fincher brothers added 46 runs for the second K.C.C. wicket, and Teddy Fincher and Mackay added 68 for the third before Fincher was caught in the slips for 73 which included twelve boundaries.

Mackay went on to score 89 in an attractive knock, hitting a six and six boundaries.

Pearce bowled a perfect length throughout, his off spinners causing anxiety to every batsman. Garthwaite, who commenced the game in rubbers and later changed into boots, was erratic, but he succeeded in taking 4 for 50. He followed this up by a good batting display for 39 before being bowled by a beauty.

Owen Hughes had the misfortune to be hit on the inside of the knee by a ball from Goodwin and was hit the next ball on the foot, causing his retirement for a brief period. When he resumed his innings at the fall of the eighth wicket Capt. Williams came out as runner.

NAVY SCORE NINE TIMES

Lincolns Draw With Navy.

LANGMEAD MISSES PENALTY.

A division of the points was a fair result to the game between the Lincolns and the Navy, but on the whole the Navy should have won.

The game opened in sensational manner, McPhee netting from close in to put the Navy ahead in the first few minutes.

Not to be outdone, however, Ridley obtained possession about fifty yards from goal and dribbled through the defence to beat Knight easily, with a well placed shot. Two goals in ten minutes.

After the thrilling opening minutes the defenses of both sides settled down to good football, Ash, for the Lincolns, and Shirras, for the Navy, being outstanding.

The Navy should have taken the lead when they were awarded a penalty for hands against Turner, but Langmead shot at Heath, who cleared well.

Langmead had an off day, and was at fault on numerous occasions.

Heath, the Lincolns' custodian, was largely responsible for the Navy's inability to score, making some marvellous saves, often from point-blank range.

The Lincolns' left wing combination, Ridley and Hocquard, were as usual treating the spectators to a pretty display of football, their short passing movements being particularly good, but the finishing of their efforts by Higgins was poor.

For the Navy, McPhee tried hard, and it was uncanny the number of seemingly certain goals by him which were saved by Heath, one particularly fine effort being tipped just over the bar. The place kick, was headed behind by Davis.

The Navy left wing was responsible for the third goal, the ball being headed into the centre by Cormack. Ash appeared to have the ball well timed, but miskicked completely, and Langmead, who was standing just behind, had an easy task to convert to give the Navy the lead.

Play deteriorated in the second half, but the thought of losing two points eventually had its effect on the Lincolns, for they showed up well in the closing stages of the game, Ridley in particular.

Their efforts were not unrewarded, for a high shot from Hocquard deceived Knight, the ball passing over his hands, to bring the scores level.

Lincolns:—Heath; Turner, Ash; Dudley, Cork, Burt, Baldry, Harding, Higgins, Ridley and Hocquard.

Navy:—Knight; Buchanan, James; Perkins, Shirras, Thomas; Waines; Davis, Langmead, McPhee and Cormack.

League Leaders Beat Kowloon.

GOUGH AND COOK SHINE.

At Sookunpoo the Artillery defeated a weak Kowloon side by two clear goals.

The Gunners brought Wroe in to partner Allen, and their splendid understanding resulted in Combey having little to do. Pardee and the wing halves, Harris and Rogers, settled down quickly and were soon masters of the Kowloon forwards. Gough was brilliant on the wing sending across some fine centres which, however, were wasted by the Artillery inside men.

Cook played splendidly in the Kowloon goal, and was ably assisted in keeping the Artillery forwards out by Whitfield and Goulthey. These two backs played with perfect understanding, Goulthey, a newcomer, kicking strongly. Bliss in the centre came out well in his tussles with Bryant, but Poluke and Stavelly proved weak under pressure.

After five minutes' play Gough centred, and the ball rebounded off Poluke into the net. The Artillery continued to press and Cook was kept busy, saving shots in great style from all the Artillery forwards.

The second goal was obtained while the Kowloon players were appealing for "hands." Gough centred the ball and Seal was alleged to have handled, but adopting the policy of "playing to the whistle" he passed the ball to Edmonds who promptly netted.

Play deteriorated after the interval with the Artillery definitely superior, though there was no further scoring.

Artillery:—Combey, Allen, Wroe, Rogers, Pardee, Harris, Gough, Edmonds, Bryant, McDonald and Seal. Kowloon:—Cook; Whitfield, Goulthey; Poluke, Bliss, Stavelly, Bickford, Hill, Willis, Webb and Phillips.

Barcelona, Yesterday.

Great Britain are almost assured of entry into the Second Round of the Davis Cup as the result of yesterday's play, when Fred Perry and "Bunny" Austin won their single matches in straight sets.

Yesterday's results as cabled by Reuter were as follows:—Fred Perry (Britain) beat E. Maier 7-5, 7-5, 6-2.

"Bunny" Austin (Britain) beat Sindreu 6-0, 6-3, 6-2.
H. W. Austin and J. S. Olliff were beaten on the Riviera twice in two weeks by the young Spaniards, E. Maier and M. Durall.

It is probable that Perry will play in both singles and doubles, being partnered in the latter event by Hughes.

Perry has been suffering from muscular strain in the forearm, but has now made a good recovery. That match against Spain on the clay courts at Barcelona is no certain victory for Great Britain. The Englishmen will have to be on the top of their form to pull through if Maier gets anything like adequate support.

Durall has been tried out on the Riviera as a doubles partner for Maier, and has already made a very good impression.

And what some English critics are beginning to realise after a preliminary whoopee over the luck of the draw is that Maier is a distinct danger on his home courts. He was the conqueror of Joan Borotra at Wimbledon last year.

If Britain clear this Spanish hurdle successfully she ought to qualify for the final round of the European Zone. Italy, the other notable competitor in the top half of the draw, will be without the services of G. Palmieri.—Reuter.

Each form of sport has its own moments of particular excitement. These are generally the culmination of movements of great skill from which the final thrust is made which may or may not yield material result. As usual in those sports that have a wider following, such as football, cricket, and hockey, there is less excitement for the actual players and more for the spectators.—G. N. Foster.

SECOND DIVISION.

Navy Overwhelm Nine Kowloon Men.

On their own ground, the Kowloon second team suffered a heavy defeat against a formidable Naval team, scoring only once, against a total of nine by their opponents.

Fielding only nine men, the Kowloon team had no chance whatever, and even had they been able to field a full side, the Navy, playing splendid football, would still have annexed both points.

Taking advantage of the strong wind the Navy opened their account through Murrell. A second goal was added in quick time by Rawson, who was giving the Kowloon defence a busy time.

Kowloon did not mean to give in without a struggle, however, and V. White, receiving the ball in mid-field, ran through on his own to reduce the Naval lead with a good shot.

The Navy were not to be denied, however, and added three more goals before the interval through Murrell, Brookes and Rawson.

Crossing over with a lead of 5 goals to 1, the Navy confident of victory, added further goals through Rawson (2), Brookes and Murrell.

Navy:—Sladen, Humphries, Powell, Blair, Turner, Ashman; Taylor, Brookes, Rawson, Murrell and Saper. Kowloon:—Nicholls, Sharpman, Jones; Hopkins, Tillery; Smith, White (V), White (J) and Phillips.

THIRD DIVISION.

PENALTY GIVES R.A.F. WIN.

The R.A.S.C. dropped two valuable points at Chatham Road when they lost to the R.A.F. by 3 goals to 2.

A division of the points would have been a fair result, and it was not until the closing stages of the game that the Air Force took the lead through Patten from a penalty.

Kearns opened the scoring for the R.A.F., but immediately afterwards, from a mole in the Air Force goalmouth, Hay tapped the ball into the net to equalise.

Read put the Air Force ahead with a nice shot, and once again the R.A.S.C. drew level through Clarke, who scored with a fast low shot.

Towards the end of the game, the R.A.F. were awarded a penalty for an infringement, and Patten, who was entrusted with the spot kick, made no mistake, to give his side the points.

LINCOLNS BEAT R.E.

The Lincolns third string enjoyed a comfortable win at the expense of the Royal Engineers, scoring four goals without reply.

Evans opened the scoring with a nice shot. The R.E. defence played well, but they were unable to check the repeated onslaughts of the Lincolns' forward line, and further goals were added by Clarke (2) and Bryan.

SAINT JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER

The Life Of The World's Richest ManG$750,000,000 GIVEN TO CHARITABLE BEQUESTS

(By R. H. Bruce Lockhart.)

TWENTY-FIVE years ago, in a belated attempt to cultivate a publicity which he had previously despised, Mr. John D. Rockefeller wrote his reminiscences for the "World's Work."

At that time he was fighting for his life against his arch-enemy Theodore Roosevelt, and was one of the most unpopular men in the United States. His book was a defence of his actions as the world's oil king rather than an autobiography. Since then there has been no adequate story of the life of the world's richest man.

The publication of "God's God" (Harper, 18s.), by John T. Flynn, makes good this deficiency. It gives the first full-length portrait of the man who combined religion with money-making more successfully than any other millionaire.

John Davison Rockefeller was born in 1839 in the little village of Richford, in the State of New York. His great-grandfather was a German miller, his grandfather a thrifty tinner, his father a quack medicine hawk whose double life was a mystery both to his family and to the American people. His mother, Eliza Davison, was a stern Baptist of Anglo-Scottish descent. It was from her that he inherited that deep religious strain which has dominated his character since early childhood.

As a boy, John D. was like his mother. He was quiet, reserved, shy, and serious. He had a narrow, long, lean face, lacking in mobility of expression, and small, bright, very intent eyes. He had little schooling, but showed some aptitude for arithmetic.

From his first years of conscious thought the desire to be rich was always present in his mind. He earned his first money, two dollars, for clearing stones from a neighbour's farm, at the age of seven. The dollars were put into a little blue bowl. By the time he was ten they grown to fifty.

Then came his first experience of big business. One day he was told that a neighbouring farmer wished to borrow fifty dollars. He was prepared to pay seven per cent. interest. John D. went to his bowl, counted out the fifty dollars, and lent them to the farmer. Twelve months later they were repaid with three dollars fifty interest.

John D., who was then earning 37½ cents a day for hoeing potatoes, made a quick calculation. Three dollars fifty was equal to ten days' pay. From that time onward he determined to make money work for him.

He received his first business job—book-keeper to a firm of Cleveland produce merchants—at the age of sixteen. His salary was four dollars a week. When his employers refused to raise it he launched out on a produce business of his own.

Then, in 1857, Drake struck the first petroleum well in Titusville, and the cry of "Oil!" went round the country, as the cry of gold had done ten years earlier. Three years later Rockefeller was sent by a group of Cleveland merchants to investigate the possibilities of the discovery.

It was not until five years later that he decided to commit his fortunes wholly to oil. The civil war had intervened. He heard Lincoln speak, was deeply impressed, but after much reading of his Bible decided not to go to the war. He was 25 when he went into oil. Now he was to go ahead with giant strides.

The story of the rise of Standard Oil is the story of the Rockefeller genius for combination. Like Rhodes later at Kimberley, he had to eliminate his competitors. There were hundreds of small oil refiners scattered in various places, all in violent competition with each other. By securing a secret rebate from the railways he reduced his competitors to impotence until they were forced to sell out.

Public opinion compelled the railways to repudiate this questionable agreement, but by then Rockefeller had achieved his object. Within ten years he was master of about one-third of the refining business of the United States. By 1878 his ambition was realised. The entire oil business of America was in his hands.

For the next 30 years press, politicians, and Church united in a campaign which heaped abuse on his name.

No name has been so execrated in American public life. Attorney-generals clamoured for his arrest. Ministers of the Gospel declared that no honest man should work for him and described his charitable bequests as a fifty per cent. split with his conscience. Above all, Theodore Roosevelt pursued him with a relentless hatred.

To these attacks he opposed one weapon only—silence. Living aloof from the world, he understood nothing of modern publicity methods. He continued to contribute vast sums to charity, to light the fire at his Sunday school, and to find consolation in the Bible.

But in his long fight with the Government over the legality of his monopoly he made little attempt to counteract the attacks. When finally, in 1911, the Supreme Court ordered the dissolution of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey as an illegal combination, he resigned formally as executive head of the Standard Oil Companies.

In one sense the "dissolution" was a triumph for his business acumen. At the time of the Supreme Court decision the shares of the company were valued at 663,793,525 dollars. Four months later the stock market valuation was 885,044,700 dollars.

They were discussing the new tylist.

"What do you think of her?" asked the manager. "How is she doing her work?"

"Well, I don't know," the chief clerk said. "But she spells atrociously."

Annoying.

Two Jews were standing at a street corner with a certain air of expectation. Presently a fire-engine dashed by, whereupon the men exchanged significant glances.

Shortly afterwards another fire-engine passed, and then another, and at the passing of each there was a further interchange of meaning looks between the two men.

After a short interval a salvage car sped past. Turning to his companion, one of the Jews roared:

WHEN 'RUN-DOWN'

● The sensible way—the doctor's way—of treating that sluggish, "run-down" condition is to use Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. Try it instead of something just to "move the bowels." See how much better you feel—and continue to feel for days after! The anti-acid action clears the system of all those poisons that cause headaches, fatigue, loss of appetite. Get the genuine; look for Phillips on the wrapper.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

BRIDGE NOTES

A HAND THAT LED TO TROUBLE

(By FRANK ENGLAND.)

IN Los Angeles an unfortunate blind lead against a redoubled slam contract has resulted, it is stated, in divorce proceedings by a wife against her husband.

I have always imagined that it is a mistake for husband and wife to play Bridge in partnership. For one thing they rarely make a success of it; few married couples that I know can get through a rubber without squabbling and recriminations.

Usually one is a better player than the other (or thinks he or she is, which amounts to the same thing) and as soon as they cut together as partners the superiority complex starts to work overtime.

I have never quite understood why this should be, but I suppose it is that when "cut" together they do not feel the restraint which is more or less incumbent on them when playing with other partners. They feel they can really let themselves go, and they very often do.

Familiar Gestures.

Even if a married pair are pleasant to each other there still remains some objection to them playing together. If they play much together it is inevitable that they should be able to know more precisely how each will bid and play under certain circumstances than playing with other partners. Instinctively and subconsciously they can gather from a familiar tone or gesture much more information than the ordinary pair, and this without any suggestion of unfair tactics.

When one reads of a case such as this from Los Angeles leading direct to the divorce court one feels that there ought to be a law against husband and wife playing together at Contract.

Here are the hands which gave rise to the trouble:

North.

Spades—9, 8.

Hearts—K, J, 10, 6, 5, 4.

Diamonds—9.

Clubs—Q, 8, 7, 2.

West.

Spades—10, 6, 5, 4.

Hearts—2.

Diamonds—8.

Clubs—K, J, 9, 6, 5, 4, 3.

South.

Spades—3, 2.

Hearts—A, Q, 3.

Diamonds—A, K, Q, J, 5, 4, 2.

Clubs—A.

West.

Spades—A, K, Q, J, 7.

Hearts—9, 8, 7.

Diamonds—10, 7, 6, 3.

Clubs—10.

Love all, game all. South dealt and the bidding went:—
South West North East
2 D. No 2 No-trumps 3 Spades
4 D. No 4 Hearts No
6 D. No No Double
Redouble

West was the unfortunate wife, who had to lead against the slam contract, and chose to lead her singleton Heart. As will be seen, this allowed the declarer (South) to discard two losing Spades on winning Hearts and make a grand slam. And then the fat was in the fire. East (the husband), we are told, hurled the cards at his wife, overturned the table, and the party broke up! West is bringing divorce proceedings against East on the grounds that he is suffering from "Bridge-mania," and expert witnesses are to be called to give evidence about whether or not the wife's blind lead was so bad as to justify the husband's subsequent behaviour. I have no doubt that the husband's case will be that, having bid Spades, it was not only bad play to lead any other suit, but his wife's bounded duty as a loyal partner to lead the Spade. Of course, a Spade lead would have set the contract.

Difficulty of Blind Lead.

If there is a difficult matter to decide in Contract it is whether or not a particular blind lead is sound. Personally, in this case I should be inclined to endorse the husband's view, but not, of course, his subsequent behaviour. In a doubtful case, with no reliable guide, as a blind lead, I am only too glad to seek refuge in leading my partner's suit. At least this provides some tangible excuse in the event of subsequent criticism, because while we may be in the dark about all the other suits we know that partner has some strength here.

In this case West had, it is true, four spades to the 10 and might well deduce that it was unlikely that spades could go round once, much less twice, without being ruffed by the declarer or dummy. East must have five spades, and possibly six.

Here is a somewhat similar hand from actual play where the singleton lead would have come off. The bidding had been West One Diamond, East Two Hearts, West Three Diamonds, East Six Diamonds, and this time North had to lead from the following hand:

Spades—Q 10 x x x x.

Hearts—x.

Diamonds—x x.

Clubs—K Q J 10.

and chose the obvious lead of the King of Clubs, which, however, enabled the declarer to make his contract. And who shall blame him for this? Not I!

The only card that could have set the contract was the singleton heart, because South held the ace and North could make an immediate ruff, but the heart looked a hopeless lead through the declared strength in dummy. North blamed himself after the hand for not leading his singleton, as, on consideration, he felt this would have given the best chance to defeat the contract.

But it is exceedingly difficult in a case like this to come to any reasoned decision. South was just as likely to have the Ace of Clubs, in fact more likely, than the Ace of Hearts, and the contract could have been defeated if he held that Ace and the Clubs had gone round twice.

Expose Dummy First.

These questions about blind leads are dreadful problems, and the only way that I can suggest to avoid much brain racking is that the dummy hand should be exposed before the first lead. I often wonder that this suggestion has not been seriously considered. After all, it is not logical that the leader should be blindfolded for the first lead, which is often the very important one, but for every subsequent play and lead in the hand should have the advantage of seeing the dummy.

To expose the dummy first would have great advantages and no disadvantages that I can think of. It would go far to eliminate much of the luck in Duplicate contests, it would tend to level-up the great "pull" the declarer has at present in seeing and playing the two hands, and it would tend to make the defence play more skilful.

America Off The Gold Standard.

AMERICA'S ABANDONMENT of the gold standard was not unexpected. The announcement was sensational enough, but it occasioned little surprise to well-informed observers, both inside and outside the United States. The surprising feature to many was the delay before the actual step was taken, but it is evident now that the interval between the banking crisis and the departure from gold was created in order to allow the Roosevelt administration a respite in which to review the country's financial position. The move will facilitate inflation measures, but its main purpose is to raise prices in America and to provide a bargaining weapon to induce other nations to return to the gold standard. Washington has been pressing Britain to return to gold for some time, and it has been unofficially stated that in return considerable war debts concessions would be granted. Britain, however, is not in a position to return to the gold standard—and will not be until the world's economic troubles are remedied. In a country which has been literally choked with gold, a certain moderate inflation, properly controlled by experts, would seem to be justified, and it has been the contention of many leading economists that America should have followed Britain's lead earlier. Against the depreciated currencies of most of the nations, the United States was engaged in a hopeless contest in the world's markets and the tremendous decline in her foreign trade was inevitable. Domestically, her adherence to gold proved costly, resources and credit being "frozen," although other factors as hoarding and lack of confidence contributed to the general financial confusion. America's tremendous gold holdings and her position as the world's creditor nation are arguments for her retention of the gold standard but action was imperative to combat the industrial slump caused by the loss of foreign markets which in turn was caused by the competition from nations who had reduced the value of their currencies. The consequences should not be unduly serious but the danger exists of a disorderly race developing in currency depreciation. International agreement would prevent such a disastrous happening and, as America probably intended, it is now essential that a unanimous and fixed international currency standard be established. This is eminently desirable for the benefit of the whole world, and the gold standard having been proved inadequate, bimetalism is suggested. Silver would be restored to a level approaching its normal value, and thus not only would be currency problem be solved, but the purchasing power of many countries would be increased, eventually producing a much-needed stimulus to world trade. Providing that the broad outlook is taken, the prospects for the World Economic Conference should not be prejudiced by America's action.

The Moscow Trial.

THE Moscow trial of the six British employees of Metropolitan Vickers has been correctly, and almost unanimously, described as a travesty of justice. It is to be borne in mind that the Courts in Russia are, and are frankly proclaimed to be, instruments of policy whenever it is required of them to be so. It is to be remembered also that the staging of a sensational treason trial is a time-honoured resource of the Soviet Government when matters are going especially badly in Russia. The suggestion of a general activity of secret enemies of the community covers a multitude of failures and breakdowns. Nor is there anything new in the charging of foreign residents with complicity in these "Capitalist" machinations. The most notorious case is that of the three German engineers tried five years ago for participation in sabotage of the Donetz coal mines, where their employment was. There was no evidence against them, but their trial lasted seven weeks. The energetic pressure of the Berlin Government, and the fact that the conclusion of an important Russo-German treaty was being jeopardised, were probably accountable for two of the accused being acquitted and the third released under a "suspended" sentence of one year. That occurrence is almost parallel to the present case.

FAR EAST AIR SERVICE.

[The Editor, "Sunday Herald."]

Sir,—By your Leading Article in your issue of 16-4-33, you have done a great service to the cause which I have been advocating for the last few months.

Since my interview with the "Canton Daily Sun" of 5-12-32 reproduced in the South China Morning Post of 6-12-32, events have been rapidly moving which points inevitably to the scheme of Air Services in this part of the world—I had them said.

"Establishment Inevitable.—That the above services are inevitable in the immediate future and the people in the Far East should be prepared for it is another prediction of Mr. Vaidya. The recent report of the extension of the London-Karachi service to Singapore is a pointer. The Government of India is interested in this project. Similarly, governments in this part of the world may be called upon to think likewise. Of course, diplomatic and political considerations may have to be given due weight."

"I foresee the possibility of an early inauguration of a Far East Aerial Service company or something like that, in the very near future. The time is opportune and the field aerial activities may now be investigated for action in the matter."

Since then the following events have occurred:—

- (1) The extension of the London-Karachi Air Service to Singapore is definitely announced.
- (2) The proposed extension of Marseilles-Saigon (Air Orient) Service to Hong Kong via Hanoi and Canton was announced on 8-12-32.
- (3) Commander Heckner of the Graf Zeppelin has been entrusted by the Dutch Government to organize regular Air Liners from Europe to Java.
- (4) Presence during the last week of Mr. Hiltz and Senator Lorin on long distance flights which have again revived the interest in the subject.

The proper authorities and others who are interested in the scheme are being consulted on the point, and everything possible will be done to expedite the scheme. But for a scheme of this type, the Capital outlay need necessarily be on a huge scale and special concessions and facilities must be secured from the Governments on this side, before the scheme can be efficiently ushered. Although the time is opportune and plans are pushed fast, the scheme must follow its usual slow course on account of the large commitments and outlay necessary.

I had said and I maintain that Hong Kong is the ideal centre for the inauguration of such a service in the Far East; because, besides being a free port which is so essential to keep down the cost of materials and equipments, it is centrally situated from Shanghai, Saigon, Manila, Singapore and Batavia which will form the various terminations of the weekly or bi-weekly Air Services, that no more suitable place can be found.

THE KAILAN MINES.

[The Editor, "Sunday Herald."]

Sir,—Reports have been in circulation during the last few days regarding the activities of the Kailan Mining Administration, amongst others being a report that the export of coal from the Administration's Mines has virtually ceased on account of the troubles in the Mines Area.

This is not strictly correct, and the General Manager has authorized us to make a statement to the effect that the mines are working normally. Whilst it is true that traffic between the mines and Chinwangtao is temporarily suspended, the General Manager assures the maintenance of regular shipments via the port of Tongku.

City Remembrancer Choice.

The applicants for the post of City Remembrancer have now been so far weeded out, I understand, that a list of half a dozen or so names is now ready for the consideration of the Court of Common Council. Although this post, which has been vacant since the death of Mr. J. B. Aspinall last year, carries an initial salary of only £1500 a year, it has attracted a remarkably large number of eminent legal men, K. C.s included. The City Remembrancer's task is to attend Parliament daily, watching the interests of the City of London. He has access to both Houses and in the Commons he occupies a special seat under the gallery.

Choosing a new Remembrancer involves a procedure not unlike the ordeal of an actor or singer at an audition. Each applicant on the short list is expected to read a speech before the Councillors, who are seated in all the glory of their blue fur-tipped gowns. But he does not finish his piece, for when sufficient cries of "Enough!" are raised he must stop.

Sunday Air Excursions.

I have news of an aerial innovation. Each Sunday throughout the coming summer air excursions are to be run between London and Le Touquet.

It is planned that an Imperial Airways Hercules machine will leave London on Sunday mornings at 10.15, enabling passengers to arrive at Le Touquet at about 12.30. They will leave for home at 7.45 in the evening. The return fare, £3 15s., will include dinner in the air on the homeward journey. The Imperial Airways people are hoping that the authorities will waive the passport regulations so that air excursions will be simplified in the same way as short trips by steamer to Boulogne and Calais.

Labour With The Cue.

A picture I saw recently of Mr. Lansbury and Sir Stafford Cripps posing at a billiard table with cues in hand ready to strike the balls reveals the leader of the Opposition as a novice at the game, as indeed he is. His part was entirely ceremonial.

The best billiard players in the Labour party are the minor members, who in their pit days had many opportunities for practice in their institutes.

Mr. Arthur Henderson used to play an occasional game, but his skill is best illustrated by the following story: To fill in time between tea and dinner one evening at a Labour Conference he and the late Fred Bramley, secretary of the Trades Union Congress, started a game. They had very little to show on the score board when a small pageboy entered the room. "Excuse me," he said to the players, "but are you playing 100 up or by the hour?"

"Why?" he was asked. "Because," he replied, "if you are playing 100 up I've to tell you that the billiard room closes at 11 o'clock."

The page boy had recognised gradualness and was convinced of its inevitability.

James Joyce As Poet.

Mr. James Joyce has decided to republish, at the modest price of a shilling, the thin volume of verse which he offered to the world eight or nine years ago under the quaint title of "Pomes Penyeach."

A curious fate then attended this volume. Although Mr. Joyce's "Ulysses" had already brought him a prodigious reputation among the more advanced schools of literature, "Pomes Penyeach"—the first he had published since his "Chamber Music" of pre-war days—was received by the literary critics with chilling silence. In England, Mr. Joyce tells me, only one review appeared. And in America the reception accorded to the book was hardly more cordial.

I can only suggest as an explanation the fact that the admirers of "Ulysses" found Mr. Joyce's poetry too easy to read.

Eloquent Mr. Maxton.

Mrs. Maxton's speech in the Commons recently was voted by men of all parties as a piece of real eloquence.

There is no man in the House to whom more of his fellows are opposed politically but attached personally. It was only a private members' debate, but the size of the House was worthy of a full-dress occasion on a matter of high policy.

This was the House's tribute to Maxton's sincerity. Many a Minister envied the close attention with which he was heard.

The L. C. C.'s New Chairman.

Mr. Ernest Martin Dence, the new chairman of the L. C. C., is equally popular with his colleagues and his constituents. Greenwich is not an easy seat to hold, and he has kept it against all comers for fourteen years. He was also its Mayor for 1922-3.

Besides his long and devoted work on so many other of the Council's committees, Mr. Dence has served on the Greater London Regional Planning Committee, with exceptional qualifications.

For he was originally an engineer, and worked as a junior on the river-edge site which yielded the skeleton of the Roman galley—now at London Museum—and which is now covered by County Hall.

When was there ever a better case of the "genius loci" presiding over a great administrative body? Personally, Mr. Dence has that enviable blend—a commanding figure and an easy manner.

Friend Of Street Traders.

Mr. Metcalfe, the Old-street magistrate, who was attacked on the Bench recently, was one of the youngest alderman magistrates ever appointed. He was 39 at that time. During the war he served in the East Lancashire Regiment and was wounded in the second Battle of Ypres. After the war he twice unsuccessfully contested the borough of Leigh as a Conservative.

It was strange that the incident should have taken place during the hearing of a case in which a coffee-stall was involved, because Mr. Metcalfe has always been a friend of street traders of all sorts.

Indeed, when he was the magistrate at Greenwich, he said that if street traders were brought up before him solely as the result of police "chivvying" and without proof of public complaint, he would refuse point blank to convict.

A More Active Part.

A little story reaches me about the activities of the Prince of Wales which further illustrates his keen interest in his public duties. He was invited, the King and Queen being patrons, to be vice-patron of the British Art in Industry Exhibition, which is being held two years hence, under the auspices of the Royal Academy and the Royal Society of Arts.

He answered at once that the subject of the exhibition interested him greatly and that he would like a more active office than the vice-patronship.

Accordingly he has been made president of the general committee, of which Sir William Llewellyn, P. R. A., is chairman, and Mr. John A. Milne, chairman of the Royal Society of Arts, is vice-chairman.

An Initiatory Ceremony.

The ceremony of introduction in the House of Lords is a solemn enough pageant to fill any peer with a certain awe, but not so Lord Horder, who was introduced recently.

I have never seen a new peer undertake his first circuitous walk round the House and perform with such cool confidence the many genuflexions which tradition demands.

He seemed more at home, indeed, than Lord Dawson of Penn and Lord Stanmore, his sponsors. Not even the critical eyes of the peers on the benches and the curious glances from the galleries disturbed his equanimity.

As the trio in their robes were being led solemnly round the benches by the gorgeously dressed Herald, Lord Horder, slowed down near the Bar and exchanged a few words with a little girl in green who sat alone in the visitors' box.

How Lactogen Standards are Maintained

Consistent Nutritive Values

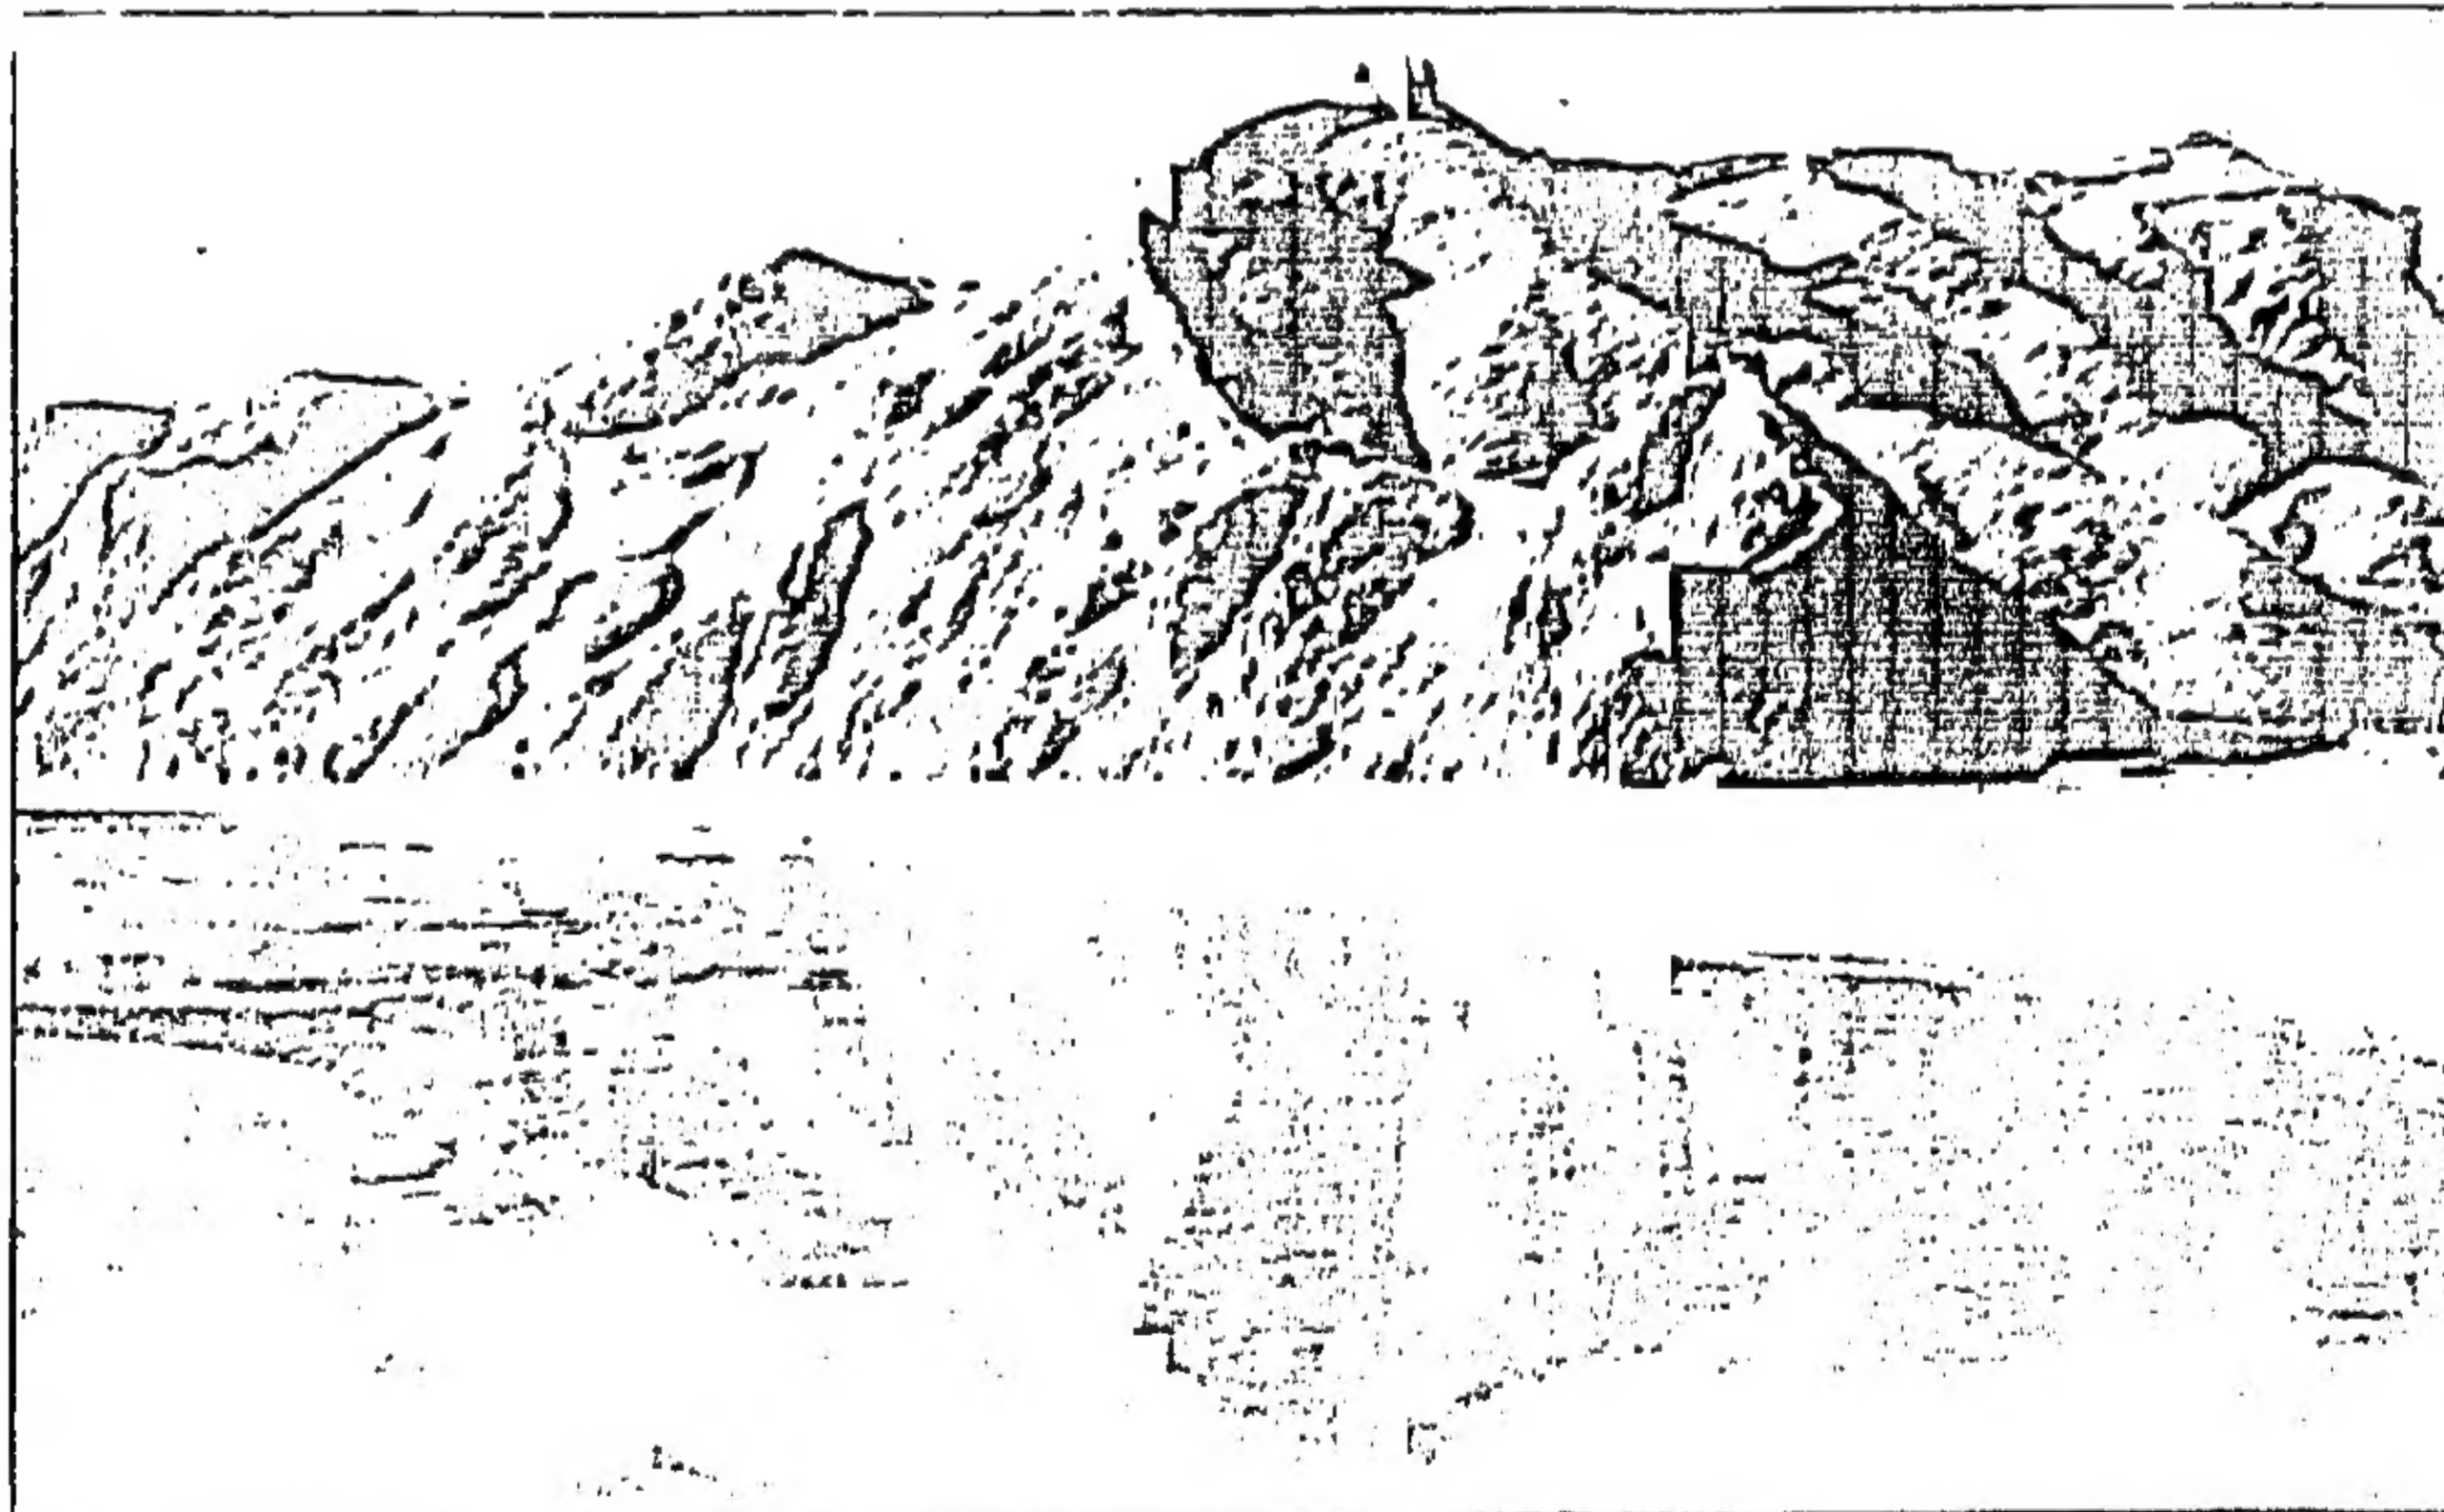

Analytical tests are made at regular intervals with Lactogen reconstituted from tins packed at periods. These analyses test the physiological balance of the nutritive elements of Lactogen. The object is to ensure mathematical accuracy in the maintenance of the Lactogen formula, so that the physician may prescribe with confidence any desirable modification for any particular case.

The invariable nutritive value per ounce of Lactogen demonstrates the constancy of not only the protein, carbohydrate and fat content of Lactogen, but also of its mineral salts, vitamins and other necessary food factors.

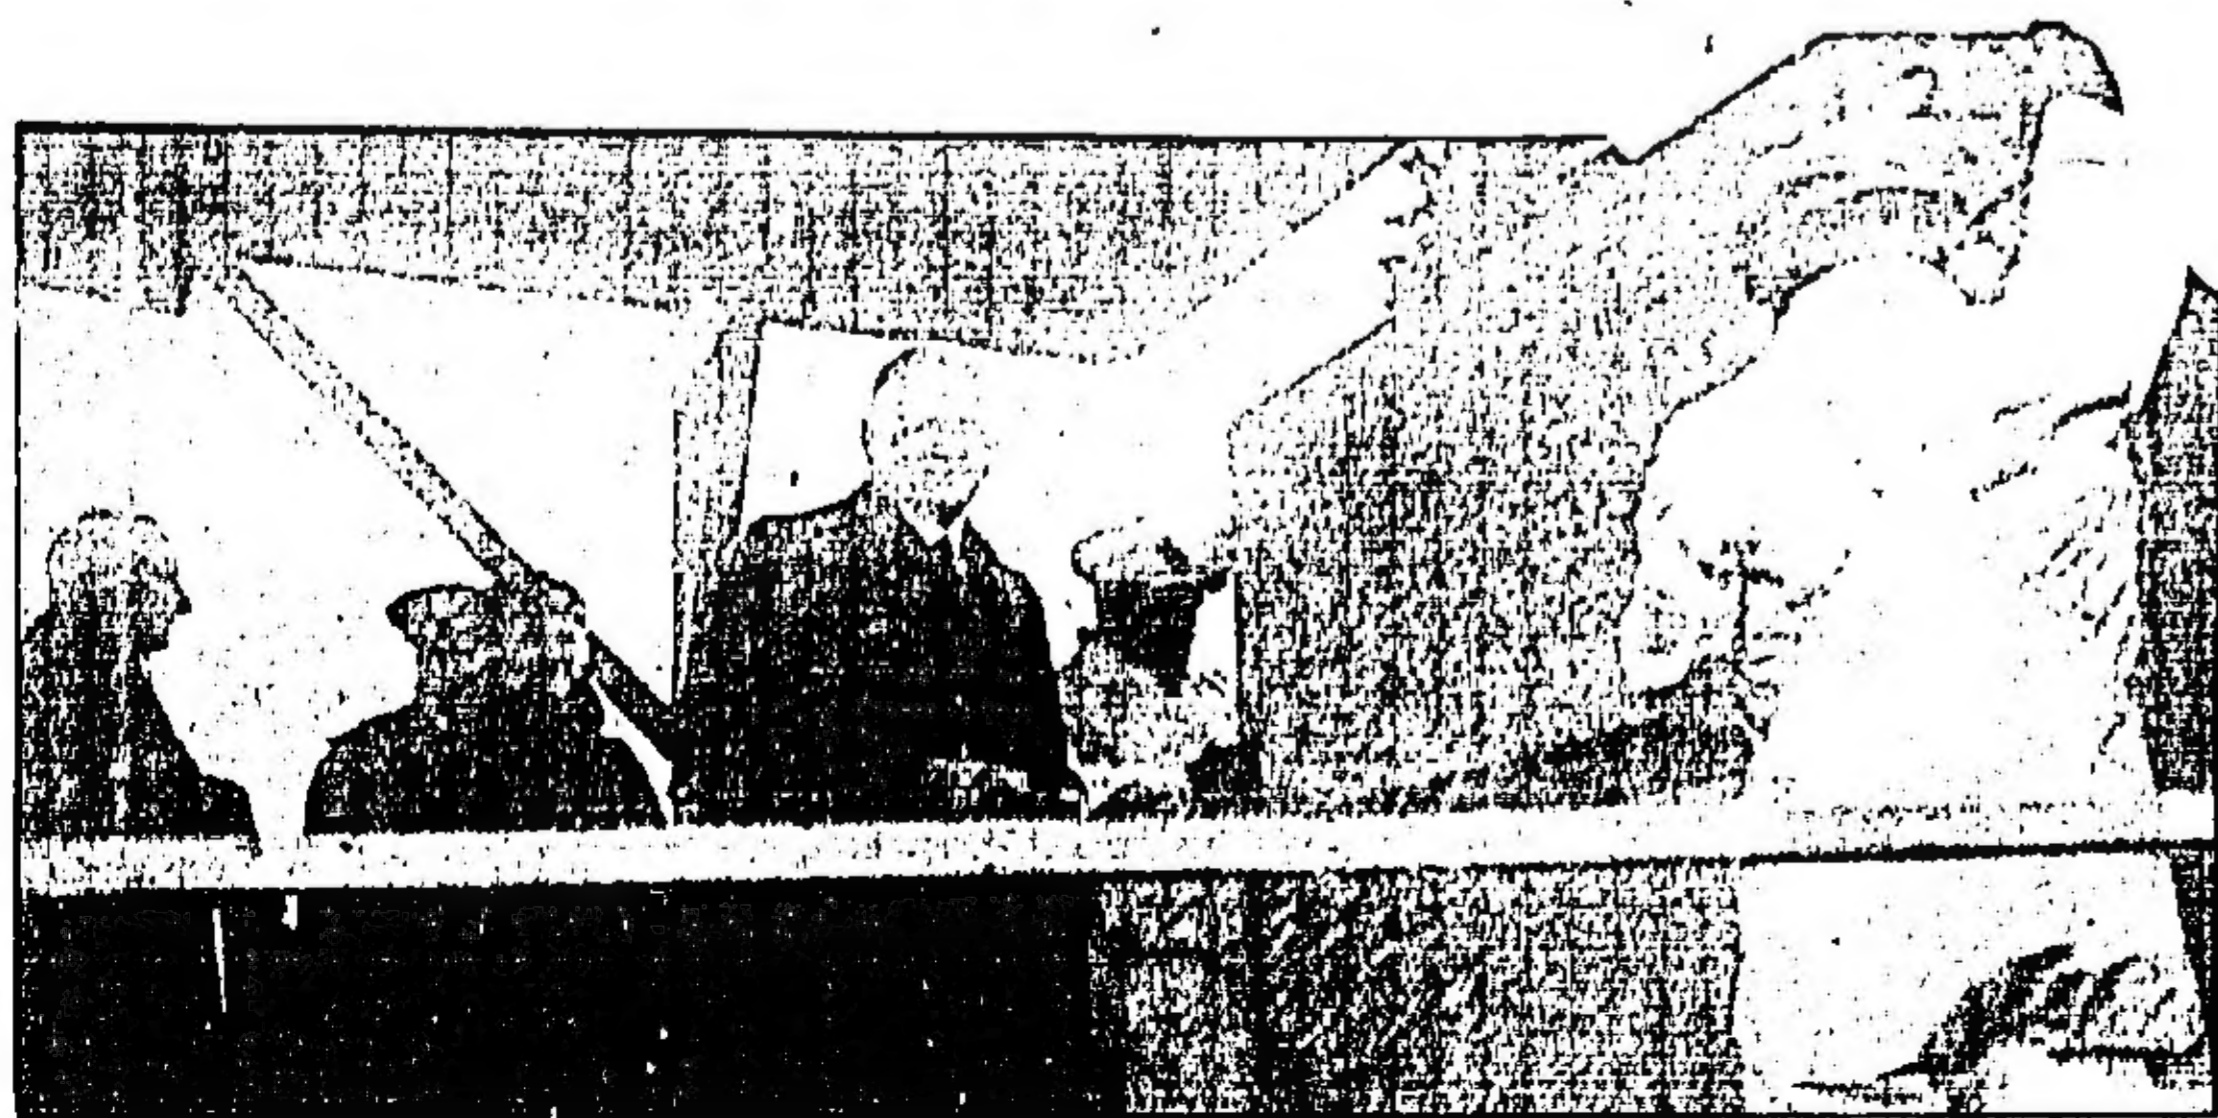

Lactogen provides exactly the nutriment the infant requires in known form and unvarying proportions. This facilitates accurate modification for specific cases.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE OLD BOYS

Association's Annual Dinner

DROP IN MEMBERSHIP CAUSES COMMENT

MR. KAY URGES SUPPORT.

A LARGE gathering was present in the Great Hall of Queen's College last night, on the occasion of the eleventh annual reunion dinner. Mr. A. el Arculli presided. A concert programme, items being provided by Messrs. C. W. E. Bishop, Levintoff, G. W. Reeve, Tam Wing-kwong and Andrew Chan, followed the dinner and speeches.

The President, Mr. A. el Arculli, said:—
"The history of the School and the success of its students in Hong Kong and other parts of the world have been matters of frequent comment by my predecessors and for that reason I do not propose to-night to refer to them in any detail."

"I would like, however, to enquire into the reason for such success. There seems, from all accounts, to be some peculiar virtue in the atmosphere of Queen's College which makes for success; this virtue I will venture to call the Spirit of Queen's College, or the Spirit of the Brotherhood of Man, practised by teachers and boys from the School's inception and proclaimed by the Yellow Dragon every month in the words of Confucius 'All within the four seas are brothers'."

"Queen's College has always been the meeting ground of boys of all nations and religions; though Chinese boys have predominated, yet there have been quite a number of Indian, British, Portuguese, Japanese and other boys."

"The School has been lucky in having for its teachers, not only scholars, but far-seeing men of the world who have realised that this wonderful Spirit of the Brotherhood of Man is the greatest factor for world peace and happiness, and have accordingly encouraged the boys to cultivate and spread the gospel of international goodwill."

A Great Loss
"I regret that since our dinner last year, death has claimed Mr. George Grimble, one of our most popular past Presidents, and some other Old Boys have also gone to join the Great Majority. I would like to extend the sympathy of the Association to the families of the late Mr. Grimble and these other Old Boys."

"I am glad to have Mr. Kay with us to-night as Headmaster of the School. Mr. Kay has for many years done great service to the School in the class-room, in the Editorial Chair of the Yellow Dragon, in the playing field and on the concert platform. He has made himself just as popular with the Old Boys as with the staff and boys of the School, and his recent marriage was of happy interest to the members of the Old Boys' Association, and on their behalf, I take this opportunity of wishing him and Mrs. Kay the best of everything in life."

"And now, gentlemen, I call on you to drink a toast to Queen's College and its Staff, coupling with it the name of Mr. Kay."

Headmaster's Speech
Mr. W. Kay, the Headmaster of the College said:

"First of all let me compliment you on your choice of President. I can assure you that my old friend, Mr. Arculli, is a worthy successor to the many distinguished men who have preceded him. He is a big man—big physically (observe how well he fills the chair) big mentally and big morally—and I do not think you could have made a better selection."

"At the same time I must congratulate Mr. Arculli on his elevation to the Presidency of an Association which he himself did so much to found and develop. He is one of the original stalwarts."

"Next, gentlemen, I wish to express my pleasure in being here to-night. The Q.C.O.B.A. has always been one of my pets and I am one of the very few who have been to every O.B.A. dinner. For the first eight years of its existence I served on the general committee and along with those red-hot enthusiasts—G. G. Anderson, J. F. Grose, S. M. Churn, H. K. Hung, A. el Arculli, Ho Leung, Lo Man-hin, Chow Ping-un, Choi Man-thun and others—watched with jealous eyes its early progress."

"It was a very healthy infant—even more lusty in childhood than it seems to be now. I am honest to say that I am proud of what the Association has achieved, and on behalf of the College I now express to you my thanks for the Association's ever ready help and constant interest in our doings."

A Live Force.
The Q.C.O.B.A. seems to me to crystallise the traditions of the School and all it stands for—or, to change the figure of speech, it may be likened to a voice calling from across a gap of years words of encouragement and good cheer to the present boys and masters. Such an Association as yours makes one realise that a School—especially an old one with tradition like Queen's—is not a mere accumulation of bricks and mortar nor an assemblage of boys and masters, but a life force influenced by what each boy and each master brings with him and by what each boy and each master leaves behind him."

"It may seem paradoxical to say so but whereas the School has largely made the Old Boys it is also true to say that the Old Boys help to make the School, for it is to the character, conduct and achievements of its Old Boys that parents look when they are considering whether to send their sons to that school or to help it in any other way. And Queen's is proud of her Old Boys who have won renown for themselves and for their School not only in Hong Kong but throughout the length and breadth of China. No present boy and no Old Boy need hang his head when referring to Queen's College or in asserting its claims."

More Support Needed.
"But, gentlemen, fine fellows though you are, and worthy though your Association is, I do not give you 100 per cent. And here are my reasons. To-night's gathering should be bigger. The fault is not yours: it lies with those members who are absent. But I should like to see more of you doing some work for the Association. In the past too much has been left to a few willing-horses. And I should like a bigger number of Old Boys to turn up to our Sports and Prize-Giving. We want to see you more than once a year."

"Then there's the 'Yellow Dragon,' as much your magazine now as it was when you studied here, and a bond between you and your Alma Mater. Where are your articles? Many of you have fine pens but they are rusting. Our Dragon is a voracious monster demanding big, numerous and varied meals, and I know that some of you, if you wish, provide it with dainty and delightful tit-bits. So shake off your sloth, dip your pens in the ink-pot and send your efforts along to the present editor, Mr. Holmes. You won't find him fastidious."

"I now ask the Staff, the visitors and the Prefects and Team-Captains (who, I hope, have been imbibing nothing stronger than lemonade) to rise and drink properly to the Queen's College Old Boys' Association."

The Hon. Secretary Mr. H. Pak-ni, proposing "Our Guests," said that he would particularly like to thank Messrs. S. M. Churn, J. F. Grose, C. G. Anderson, Mr. Chow Ping-un, H. K. Hung, and many others who had made the function what it was."

Looking up the old records of the Association, he said that he found that there was a time when the Old Boys numbered more than 500. This year it had dropped to about 200. Mr. M. K. Lo replied on behalf of the guests.

The Cross And All It Stands For

Eternal Opposition To World's Ideals

FAMILIARITY BLURS REAL MEANING

(By A Local Padre.)

(This is another of the series of articles written exclusively for the "Sunday Herald" by a local Army chaplain.)

IT is a popular thing for Christians to talk much of the Cross, but is a very open question whether we bear it much.

It is not a theory, but a fact—not a poetic speculation, but a grim reality—not an ornament, but a mode of discipline—not simply a symbol put on our altars and placed above our churches, but an experience to be stamped upon our lives.

Nineteen centuries have passed since it was planted on the hillside of Calvary, and its familiarity has somewhat blurred its awfulness, its agony and its shame.

As one of our modern writers has said, "Perhaps the simplicity of the symbol has cast a glamour over the modern mind and blinded us as to its strenuous meaning. Art with an unerring instinct of moral beauty has seized and idealised it. It is wrought in gold, it stands out in bold relief on churches filled with easy going people. Artists have painted it, and their works are criticised by people who praise the thorns in the crown, but are not pleased with the expression on the face, and then return to their pleasures. The cross of Christ has been taken out of His hands and smothered with flowers, become what He would have hated—a source of agreeable emotions."

Are not these words true? The cross was not idealised by the writers of the Gospels. They told us only of the stern and awful reality of it all, without the veil of glamour. There is something more than tragedy in the simple words "They crucified Him."

I make no apology with Good Friday still within our minds, for asking you to think again of what the cross stands for, and what it represents.

What did it mean to Christ Himself?

It haunted Him from infancy. Its shadow fell upon His cradle. He bore it on His shoulders all His days. During the years in the Nazareth workshops He was preparing for it. A well known picture shows Him standing at the door of a carpenter's shop stretching Himself after the day's work, and the setting sun falling on His arms makes the shadow of a cross. It was always with Him until He faced it in reality.

Simply Sacrifice.
The meaning of the Cross is simply sacrifice. With Christ it began in His self-renunciation of the glories of heaven, when He made Himself in the likeness of men. The Cross is rooted in the dawn of history. The wood was

EMPLOYMENT PLEA FAILS.

Prague.
A 19-year-old Czechoslovak of German race has been sentenced to four months hard labour at Oppava (Troppau) for having served in an organisation "dangerous to the state."

He had been a storm-trooper of the German Nazi Party at Preussisch-Neudorf, in Germany, where he was employed by the local Nazi organisation in return for board and lodging but no wages.

The youth pleaded that the National-Socialist Party of Germany was not anti-Czechoslovak in character, that he accepted no wages and simply accepted the employment because there was no other work open to him.—Reuter.

already in the Garden of Eden where stood the Tree of Life. The first earthly steps to Golgotha were taken in the manger at Bethlehem. Calvary was only the culmination.

Then in His public ministry, we see the meaning of the Cross. He had no home. It was a ministry for others and not for self. His life was one long sacrifice of time and strength and service. Not a step did He take that was not watched, not a word that was not criticised, not a miracle that was not challenged. His influence was perpetually minimised.

The Cross is ever a stumbling block. It bars the way to advancement. He who carries the Cross has few followers and fewer comrades. The chief cross-bearer found that out. It scattered the disciples as soon as they knew that faithfulness meant crucifixion. It is the great divider. It proves or disproves easy profession.

In the life of Christ it stood too for the endurance of injustice. Treachery and greed had betrayed Him, envy had plotted His destruction, political expediency had delivered Him up to be crucified. Injustice is written over every page. Pilate was anxious to release Him. Three times he proposed to acquit Him against whom no just accusation had been brought, but each time the roar of injustice drowned his voice.

What does it mean in human life?

A Cruel Reality.
It is not a toy, but a cruel reality. It reverses the whole conception of life by introducing a new principle, that the conquest of life is only attained by sacrifice, that we can only gain life by its surrender. Only a divine example could make such a principle acceptable. The world's method would be to repudiate the principle of self-sacrifice. It would fight against the surrender of self for others. It would insist not on humility but on sovereignty, not on forgiveness but on revenge. Sacrifice is not an earthly idea. It was transplanted from heaven into the hearts of men when the Cross was raised on the hillside of Calvary.

God might have chosen other methods of salvation. He chose this. And there is no other. God incarnate paid the price of sin Himself.

The Cross stands in human life for a new standard and a different method. It stands in eternal opposition to the world's ways and thoughts and ideals. At His trial Christ said, "My kingdom is not of this world." Think of some of the precepts of the divine Kingdom, where the Cross is the standard. "Whosoever will be great amongst you, let him be your minister, and whosoever will be chief among you let him be your servant." He that humbly himself shall be exalted. "What is a man profited if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" Whosoever shall lose his life for my sake—the same shall find it. It simply means that we must change our conceptions of greatness and honour, rewards and successes. Another standard is involved by the entrance of the Cross into human life, and the greatest trouble in that life is that men are so unready to accept that fact.

When some mystery of life darkens our horizon, when we stand baffled and alone, it may well be that we are facing our Gethsemane, and the Hill of Calvary has to be climbed.

If we accept the Cross as the standard of our lives, we must also accept the consequences. They crucified Him—Christ. They may crucify us—who profess to follow Him.

SAINT JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER.

Rockefeller, however, was through with big business. He was now over seventy. Life itself was in future to be his main preoccupation. For years past he had disciplined himself to a dietary regime which took him more and more away from the turmoil of city life. To-day he still takes some part in the administration of his vast estate at Pocantico. He still keeps a list of shares with which he plays on the market. But his chief interests are now in golf and in clinging to life.

How much remains of the vast fortune which his industry has created? He has given away in charitable bequests approximately 750,000,000 dollars, or nearly three times as much as the fortune with which he retired. That fortune could not then have been more than 250,000,000 dollars, but experts calculate that by 1929 it had been increased at least four times by investment after retirement, and that his total wealth did, indeed, exceed the billion dollars which twenty years before he had denounced as a fantastic estimate of his riches. What remains to-day time alone will show. The reduction, however, must have been heavy.

Has his fortune brought him happiness? The odds are that that it has. He has always visualised the world as an orbit in which a divine wisdom entrusted the management of human affairs to the strong for the advantage of their weaker brethren. To-day, the hatred against him has died down, largely as a result of the war, which destroyed so many prejudices. Now his compatriots regard him as the Grand Old Man of America. He enjoys a kind of genial sainthood, and even Sargent, who painted his portrait, compared him with St. Francis of Assisi.

His glory, however, will be transient. Apart from his business talents, he has few of the attributes of greatness. He has never shown any interest in the intellectual side of life. He numbers no thinkers among his friends. His favourite poet is Ella Wheeler Wilcox. He is at his happiest when singing his Baptist hymn: "When the roll is called up yonder I'll be there." He has no doubt that it will be so.

He is an example of the one-track mind which has concentrated all its energy on one goal. He is the prince of bookkeepers, a man who throughout his life has known his balance to the last fraction of a cent at every hour of the day. He has succeeded beyond even his own dreams, and built up what may well be the

YACHT CLUB WIN THE ROWING REGATTA

V.R.C. SECOND AND CANTON THIRD

CLOSING CRUISE AT NORTH POINT

COMMODORE'S SPEECH

THE Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club won the Rowing Regatta held at North Point yesterday, registering 7½ points as against the V.R.C.'s 4 and the Canton's 3½.

The Yacht Club dead heated with Canton in the Hynes Challenge Cup, and won the Stock Exchange Challenge Cup and the Novice Fours.

At the conclusion of the Closing Cruise Mrs. A. L. Shields, wife of the Commodore distributed the trophies.

BRILLIANTLY fine weather attended the Rowing Regatta, which in conjunction with the Closing Cruise of the Royal Hong Kong Yacht Club was held at North Point yesterday afternoon. A large attendance watched the thrilling rowing races, which were keenly contested in spite of the slightly choppy sea. The moderately fresh breeze, however, was ideal from the yachting point of view, and it was a case of "lee rail under" most of the afternoon. Many ladies were present at the function, in addition to the many prize-winners, and the many frocks, provided a rare scene of contrasting colours.

In the senior fours over a distance of one mile, the Yacht Club and V.R.C. crews got away to a good start, with Canton slightly behind. The two Hong Kong boats were together for the first half mile, with Canton still failing to regain the distance lost from their dead start. After half a mile, however, the V.R.C. dropped back slightly, and Canton drew level and then passed them to secure second place to the Yacht Club, who won by two lengths. Canton were two lengths ahead of the V.R.C.

In the novice fours the V.R.C. got away to a bad start, their timing being at fault. They, however, secured the lead very soon after the start, and maintained it for about half the distance, but their bad timing enabled the Yacht Club, who rowed with a long steady pull, to take the lead and win by 1½ lengths. The senior pairs proved a walk-over for the V.R.C., who led from the start. The Yacht Club and Canton kept together almost throughout the race, the Canton crew displaying exceptionally good timing. The Yacht Club, however, secured a half-length advantage over the visitors, being three lengths behind the V.R.C.

COMMODORE'S SPEECH.

Mr. A. L. Shields, the Commodore, in his review of the season, said:

The season now closing is, I believe, a record one for the Sailing Section of the Club. The fleet now numbers 61 sailing craft, and of these no less than 50 have taken part in racing.

The new Anker Class which I referred to on the Opening Day has, I think, exceeded all expectations. The boats are in the hands of very keen sailors who always turn out in full force for races.

Thirteen boats have been built to the design, and eleven are in commission here. One boat was built for an owner in Tientsin and one is now completing for the Governor of British North Borneo.

The other racing classes have been well represented and a number of boats have changed hands. There are several yachts now on offer for sale which are worth the attention of budding Corinthians. "Once a boat owner always a boat owner" is the almost invariable rule in Hong Kong. Some time ago we had some lachrymose remarks in the Golfing notes in a daily paper about someone who had the audacity to neglect the Royal and Ancient game and go in for yachting. The mournful scribe, if my memory serves me, asked "what does a golfer know about yachting any?" and the answer is probably "not much, except possibly swinging the lead."

Sailing Fever.
Sailing fever is always endemic in Hong Kong and is of a particularly virulent type. Very few people ever get rid of it.

If anyone suffers from "that cramped feeling" in this "Tight Little Island" or in the populous and rapidly developing Kowloon Peninsula, I can strongly recommend buying a boat—there is lots of elbow room and fresh air outside of Harbour Limits.

The Cruising fraternity is increasing in numbers and the Club Cruiser design by Mr. Rouse is very popular. There are now four boats in this class and two more keels have been laid with the prospect of one more next month. I might mention that these fast and sea worthy little racing cruisers cost about $1,800 complete with sails, gear and equipment, including such essential articles as a corkscrew and a bottle opener.

The list of prize winners which you will find in your programmes and the outward and visible evidence in the way of prizes on this glowing table save me from referring to the long list of races which have been held, but I would like to mention in particular the annual race for the Scandinavian Cup between International crews. This I consider the Blue Riband of the season's team racing, and the entrants this year were Scandinavia and Great Britain.

Scandinavia Cup.
The Norsemen and the Great Danes were represented by Messrs. Krogh Moe, Berg, Naess and Dreyer and the British team was comprised of Major Griffin and Lophner and two of our Flag Officers Messrs. Rouse and Wood. This match is sailed with the gloves off and no quarter is asked or given. Members of the team, I believe, go out with the Racing Rules pasted inside their hats, which probably accounts for the increasing number of Yachting Caps, as the rules cover a large area when displayed for ready reference. A silk hat or a five gallon sombrero worn by the Mayor of Taipei would be ideal for the purpose but the windage would be excessive.

I seem to be a long way from the Scandinavian cup race but "Sailors don't care" and I hope others don't either.

The result of the race was a win for Great Britain by 40 points to 34 and I would just mention that one competitor who finished late had a bottle of beer (one bottle I said) sent off by motor boat, which rather savours of the aeroplane stunt of refuelling in mid air.

The Services Cup.
The customary series of races between the Navy and the Club, the Army and the Club and the Navy v. the Army were held and were keenly contested.

The R.H.K.Y.C. trophy presented last year by our Vice Commodore for sailing races between Service boats was won by the winner of H.M.S. Whitshed with a figure of merit of 97 per cent. H.M.S. Cornwall's second Whaler being runner up with 78 per cent.

I would take this opportunity to say again that our facilities are always at the disposal of the Services for Sailing or Rowing Races. We can put out the starting line mark boat and furnish guns for starting and finishing races at very short notice and I hope this will be taken advantage of.

Lady Members.
The ladies sailed a series of nine Championship races and were so keen for more that an extra series of five races was arranged. I would say that the General Committee are now considering an alteration in the Club Rules admitting lady members in order to secure an increase in their number.

The series of three Corinthian races proved very popular and it is proposed to increase the number of these races to five next year. This will be popular with the boat boys, who enjoy the afternoon off and congregate on the end of the wall, to watch with critical interest Master and his friends, depending on their own efforts, while deprived of the assistance, advice (and I almost said bullying) which most self-respecting boat boys consider not only their duty but their privilege to give.

If the Colonial Treasury could devise a means of collecting a betting tax from the boat boys on these Corinthian races, the Government might profitably present us with a new site, a new Club House and an Endowment.

I cannot close my remarks about sailing without congratulating our Sailing Secretary on the result of his labours. The Flag Officers and Sailing Committee greatly appreciate the cheerful and efficient way he has tackled the very heavy volume of work which has fallen on his willing shoulders. It has never been done better.

Season's Rowing.
Turning to the Rowing, this side of our activities has been well maintained during the past season. In January the Club sent a crew down to Manila, where they raced against the Manila Boat Club in a four and a pair; the results in both events went against us, but by very narrow margins. However, we are not disheartened and it is to be hoped that the races we have rowed against Manila crews in our waters a year ago, and at Manila in January, may make this fixture an annual event.

To-day we have to welcome the Canton Rowing Club, and the Victoria Recreation Club, whom we are extremely glad to see here as our guests. Canton entertained us most hospitably in the City of Rams last February, when they gave us an excellent demonstration of how races should be won. The V.R.C. make a very welcome reappearance at our regattas, and we hope they will be regular competitors in the future.

Looking into Future.
The Club is carrying out a policy of gradually rebuilding all rowing boats, an expensive affair, but nevertheless essential if the present enthusiasm for this manly sport is to be maintained, and I trust that the new boats we are building will be matched by a corresponding influx of new talent.

As you can see the basin in front of the Club is being rapidly reclaimed and in about two years' time we will probably have to vacate this site which we have occupied for nearly thirty years. I hope the Government will give sympathetic consideration to our application for a new and suitable site. The next two years will probably mean a certain amount of discomfort, but I feel that the traditional enthusiasm of both members and subscribers will prevent any falling off in interest. The link on Captain Elliott's proclamation in 1841 was hardly dry before boat sailing and rowing were started, and I believe these two forms of sport will thrive and flourish in Hong Kong so long as the tides do ebb and flow and we retain our traditional love of the sea.

MOTORING SECTION

HONG KONG, APRIL 23, 1933.

AUTOMATIC MOTORS PLANNED.

Applicable to New-Model Passenger Cars.

The next logical step beyond the easy gear-shifting provided by free-wheeling and automatic clutch control—an entirely automatic mechanism—is nearer than the public may realize. It is reliably reported in Detroit.

It is not a motor-car manufacturer who is going to offer it as standard equipment, but a parts specialist who will put it on the retail market first by way of showing that there is a popular demand for it.

In its initial guise the development is said to be applicable to ten new-model passenger cars. Details of its design and the date when it will be ready still are being withheld.

ANTIQUATED CARS DANGEROUS

Obstacle To Promotion Of Safety.

WORN OUT CONTROL.

One of the foremost obstacles to promotion of maximum safety on public highways is the large number of antiquated, dilapidated motor cars to be found in every section of the United States.

These ramshackle vehicles constitute a genuine menace in normal traffic, because they are not physically equipped to cope with the emergencies every driver must face in the course of daily driving.

Weak brakes, worn gears, doubtful tyres, loose steering knuckles, reluctant engines—these are only a few of the factors which render such cars unsafe, not only to those who operate them but also to the careful drivers who must travel through same highways with these obsolete vehicles.

Average Life

Although statistics compiled by the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce place the average life of an automobile at seven years, a recent survey of the automotive field showed that approximately one out of every ten cars in operation on December 31, 1931, was eight or more years old.

In round figures, 2,000,000 of the 22,300,000 automobiles registered on that date had passed another allotted span of life, while another 1,200,000 had just reached the seven-year mark. This means that more than 14 per cent. of all cars on American highways at the outset of 1932 were ready for permanent retirement.

It is impossible for such cars to be operated with absolute safety, regardless of the care the driver may exercise. When the car is mechanically unreliable there is always danger of failure at critical moments—at street intersections, on steep grades, at railroad crossings, narrow bridges, or any of the scores of hazards which must be faced every day.

Worn Out Control

Then, too, such a car is necessarily difficult to operate. Controls have been worn to the extent that their use requires definite effort; poor springs and excessive vibration rob the car of its riding comfort. These factors mean quicker fatigue for the operator, with a consequent loss of that alertness which makes him a careful and efficient driver.

In this way, the perilous combination of a physically handicapped driver in a mechanically unreliable car is created, to threaten the safety of other cars on the road.

It is true that a small number of antiquated motor cars are still in good condition, due to superior construction methods and proper care and service throughout their life. These cars, however, are in the minority and it is safe to class the great majority of cars which have passed the average seven year span, as unsafe for daily operation.

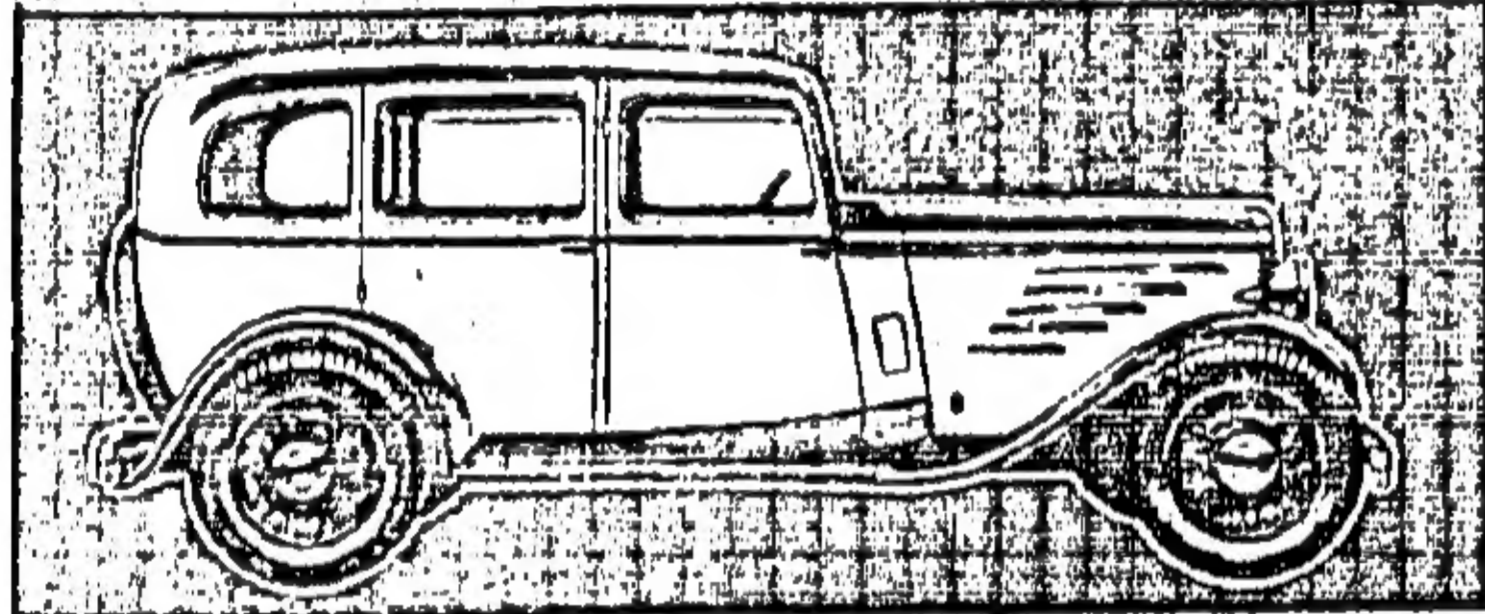

WOMEN SAFER THAN MEN.

United States Motor Club Finding.

Women drivers are revealed as being from four to five times more safe than men behind the wheel, according to tabulations of statistics reported by the Chicago Motor Club. Club authorities say the finding is not based on the fact that fewer women drive than men, but is arrived at on the basis of any given number of women drivers as compared with the same number of men drivers.

It was found that a woman at the wheel is four times less likely than a man to be involved in a non-fatal accident, and five times less likely than a man to be involved in a fatal accident. "Statistics covering 7,600,000 drivers of both sexes in various states with drivers' license laws in effect recently were analyzed," the motor club declared. "Among the outstanding findings were the following: One out of every twenty-two male drivers figured in a non-fatal accident, and one out of every eight-nine female drivers figured in a non-fatal accident, and one out of every 3,558 figured in a fatal accident."

The most popular car in its class is the 1933 SINGER

Wherever you go these days you see an extraordinary number of Singers on the roads. Why? Because the new 1933 models have created a new standard of motoring value. They offer the motorist comfortable, speedy transport at low upkeep cost. The redesigned combustion chamber gives greater power though the petrol consumption is low. The Singer coachwork is roomy and dignified, yet weight has been kept down so that tyres last longer. A Singer represents intelligent economy. That is why more people are becoming Singer enthusiasts every day.

PACKARD

ASK THE MAN WHO OWNS ONE

"STYLE," as applied to the Packard, has always meant something more.

Associated with it, logically and distinctively, is the other important word, "enduring"—a Packard characteristic for a third of a century.

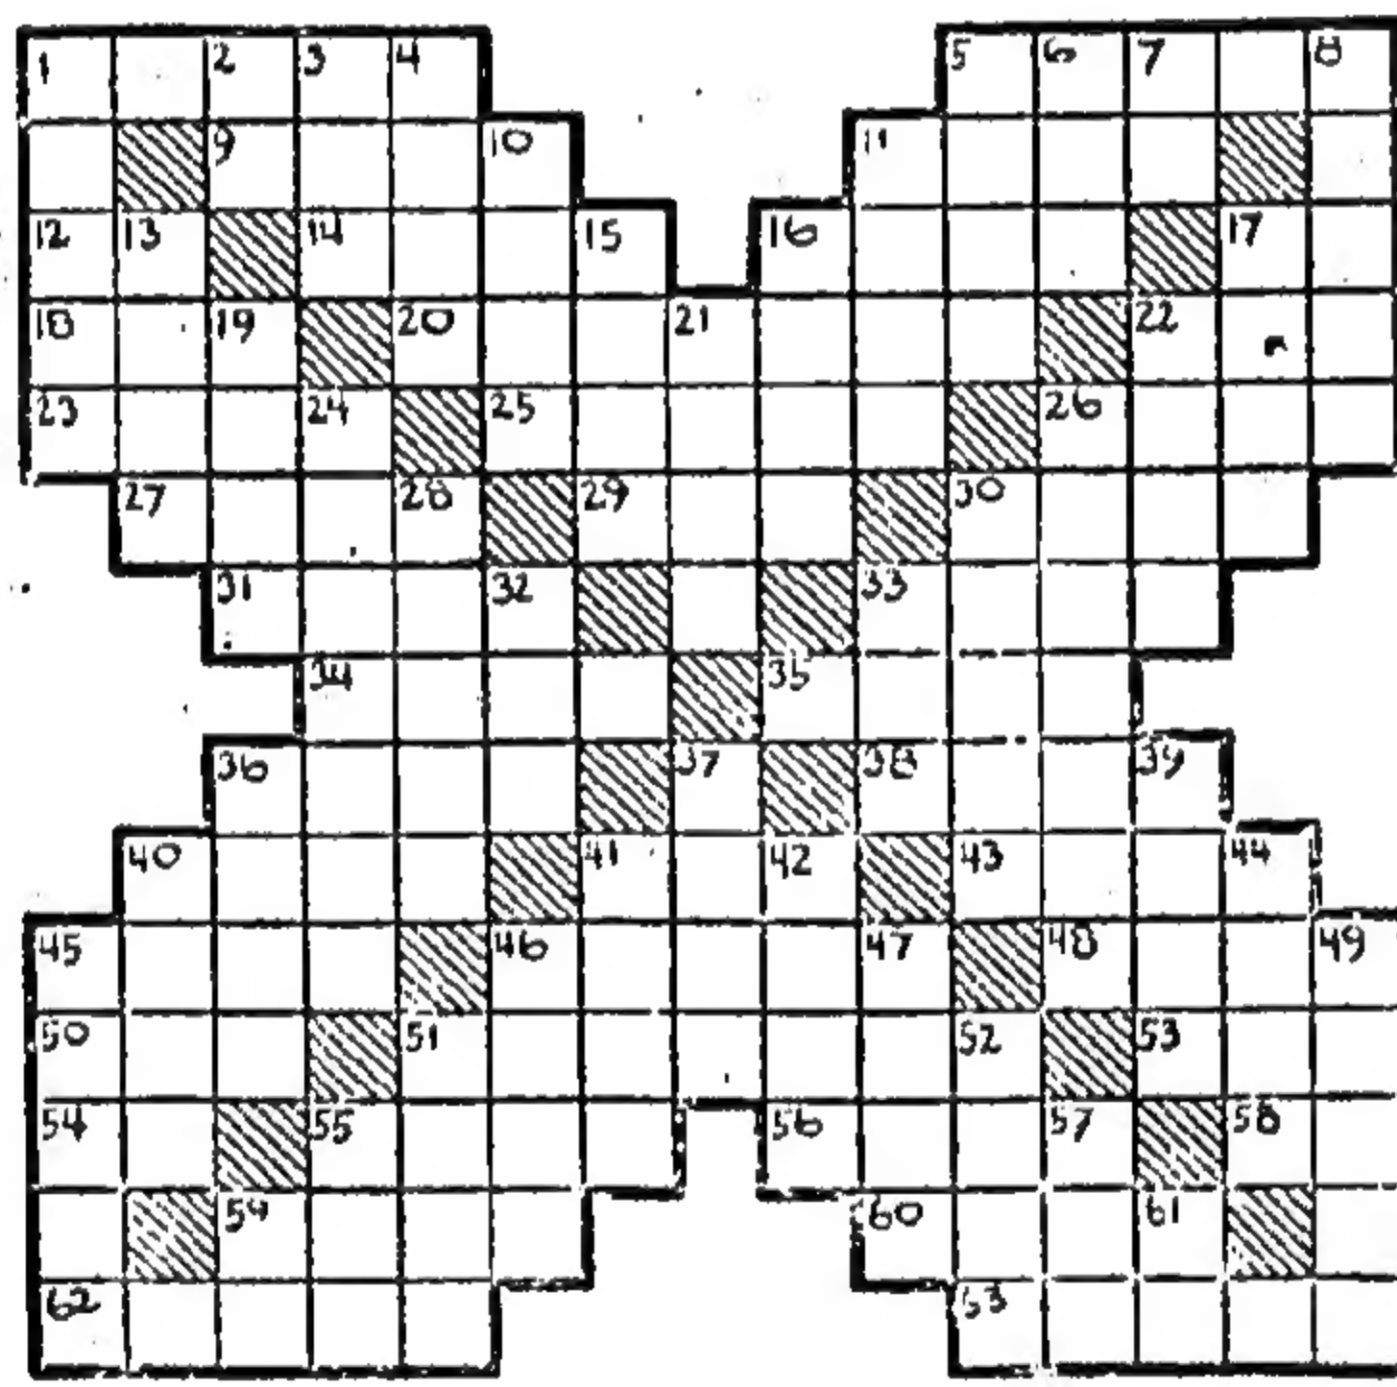

So gradually and correctly has Packard style evolved—like the slow unfolding of a beautiful flower—it has never been at the mercy of that capricious mood which too often alienates tomorrow's style from that of to-day.

SIR HERBERT AUSTIN OPTIMISTIC.

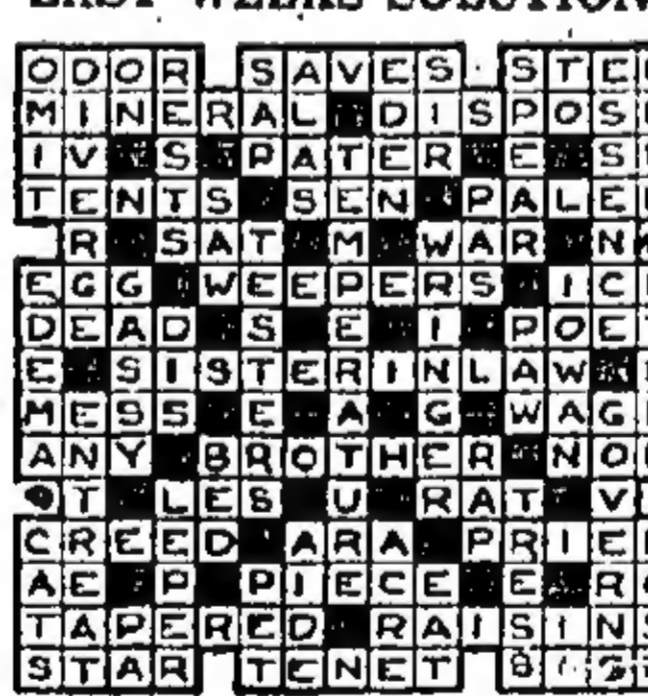

Sir Herbert Austin, addressing the Greater Birmingham Unemployment Committee, said he thought that Birmingham was going to see a better year in 1933 than in 1932. His company had received about 40 per cent. more orders during the past four months than in the same period a year ago.

IS SINCERITY ENOUGH?

Many men in the past few years, having conscientiously invested their life's savings in securities and stocks, hoped to profit from the investment. But stocks crashed, and securities were found to be insecure, in spite of the investors' sincerity.

"CARNIVAL BOAT"

First Big Tree Film Since Arrival
Of Talkies.

A romance of the logging camps, the first since sound was combined with motion pictures, "Carnival Boat," now at the Central Theatre proves to be an exciting and novel successor to Bill Boyd's previous picture, "Slide Fleet."

Romance and comedy are set against some of the most thrilling and beautiful mountain woods scenes the screen has ever shown. In the atmosphere of the logging camp and a river carnival show-boat the love story of a young lumberman and a red-haired singer is told. Bill Boyd is seen as the young lumberman and Ginger Rogers plays "Honey."

Fast-moving action centres around the efforts of Boyd to deliver the logs to the mill before the rains start. Dramatic highlights are found when Bill rides across a logging high-line to reach a runaway locomotive on which his father is struggling to make defective brakes hold. The fight between Fred Kohler, as the menacing "Hak," and Boyd is so realistic that you forget that they are in front of a camera and Boyd's race across a log jam with dynamite to break it brings the thrilling action to a breath-taking climax.

The story concerns itself with the shortcomings of the young lumberman. He is in love with Ginger Rogers, a carnival boat singer, and his father's effort to separate them and persuade him to get down to business cause a rift between them. Bill does not believe that life is at all serious until he saves his father on the runaway train and realises that the old man was racing down the mountain in an attempt to help.

Definitely placed between the romantic and action portions of the picture are a number of comedy moments hilariously done by Edgar Kennedy as "Baldy" and Harry Sweet as the dumb swede "Stubby."

Albert Rogell directed this picture with fine judgment. In addition to those mentioned the cast also includes Hobart Bosworth, as Boyd's father, and Marie Prevost in the role of "Babe," the show-boat queen. "Carnival Boat" is an RKO Pathe production of the story of Marion Jackson and Don Ryan. The screenplay was written by James Seymour.

WIDE RANGE OF ISSUES FOR DISCUSSION.

The Premier was given an official welcome, and was met by the British Ambassador, Sir Ronald Lindsay, who later travelled with him to Washington. On the arrival in Washington Sir Ronald will proceed with him to the White House where Mr. MacDonald is staying with the President.

The conversations will range over the current problems, with particular reference to those which will arise at the World Economic Conference. Disarmament and War Debts are also expected to be among the subjects on which views will be exchanged.

The Rugby Section.

"If a flood lighting effect were to be brought to bear on the Rugby section it would present a dazzling picture of trophies, cups and flags, signifying one of the most brilliantly successful seasons in the annals of the Club.

"If the same dazzling light were brought to bear on the members of the Rugby fifteen at the present moment one would probably catch the reflection of many glasses. "With beaded brows winking at the brim" and one would then appreciate the strenuous training that these players undergo in order to bring laurels to the Club.

"If I may detain you a little longer I wish to touch briefly on Club matters generally. For the convenience of members who have been relegated to the touch line the Club has remodelled the seating accommodation and erected a new type of stand designed to accommodate a greater number of spectators with more comfort in less space.

"That sounds rather puzzling, but has proved very successful, and our thanks are due to Messrs. C. B. Robertson and W. Pryde who conceived the idea and supervised the construction. "The Club ground has been maintained in good condition and I think you will agree that expenditure for this purpose is always justified. A good ground is conducive to better play, and I am convinced that during is naturally expected to affect considerably many of the economic and financial questions which are likely to be considered.

The officials accompanying the Premier include Sir Robert Vansittart, Permanent Under-Secretary at the Foreign Office, Sir Frederick Leith Ross, the Government's Chief Economic Adviser, and Mr. A. E. Overton of the Board of Trade. — British Wireless Service.

the last eight or ten years the standard of football was improved.

New Bowling Green. "That piece of land between the Club house and the playing field is now in process of development, and only the arrival of turf is awaited to complete the new bowling green. "The green will not of course be played on this year, but it is hoped that by 1934 members will have the opportunity of enjoying a quiet game of bowls, while they exchange reminiscences of days when they indulged in much more violent exercise at the Football Club.

"This development does not mean that we intend to forsake football far from it. The stimulation of interest in both codes and the provision of facilities for playing these games remain the chief objects of the Club."

CAPT. BURNETT'S REPLY.

Capt. R. L. Burnett, O.B.E., R.N., replying on behalf of the guests, said: "With regard to Rugby and Soccer, I have refereed both games and don't know which I am fonder of.

"Both Club teams have done a great deal for charity in the Colony, both for Services and Civilian charities. The seven-a-side competitions, especially, have greatly helped the Services charities. "I wish to thank you on behalf of the Services, especially the Navy, who are extremely grateful for the use of the Club ground, which has greatly helped them in their games and recreations. I wish to thank you especially in view of the growth of Naval Rugby.

"I am returning to England shortly and hope to persuade the authorities to grant a naval ground. We shall then be able to return your hospitality, and shall be able to help both games. Having our own gate, and our own players, we will do our little bit to help you along in regard to charities.

"I would like to think of the old veterans continuing to help the game along, and teaching young-ster to play in the real spirit of the game."

ORIENTAL BEAUTY IS DIFFERENT.

Chinese Prefer The Jewish Type.

New York. Beauty is not "a common coin which passes as currency in any country or province." It is indicated in a report made to the Journal of Social Psychology by two experts of Columbia University. Students of Teachers' College at the University were asked to mark on their merits the good looks or physical attractiveness of 40 adolescent white boys and girls. The individual who was first choice of the American students was the tenth choice of the Chinese, and the first choice of the Chinese was the thirty-third among the Americans. There was a tendency for the Chinese to prefer the Jewish type—Rout.
